Wicks Leads Bingo Fight Against Democrats' Bill

Sees Game As Lacking Controls

Both He, Wilson For Amendment

Ulster county's two Republican representatives in the state legislature are against bingo unless it is legalized by amendment to the Constitution.

Democrats in the minority at Albany had hoped to pass a law permitting the game immediately.

"Prodded by hundreds and hundreds of letters for church groups and individuals," said the New York Daily News, quoting Senator Arthur H. Wicks of this city, and Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Woodstock, "the two came out flatly against bingo unless authorized by Constitutional amendment."

WICK'S STAND is considered a definite blow to immediate resumption of charity bingo as he is leader of one of the most powerful blocs in the Republican controlled legislature, dating back to the days when he was senate majority leader.

If bingo has to wait for a change in the Constitution, the game will be barred until Jan. 1, 1958, at the very earliest. Legalization by even that date would depend on getting two legislatures to vote to offer the amendment to the people at a general election.

IN VIEW of the mounting opposition to bingo by Protestant church groups, it is not at all certain that the constitutional amendment could be passed—despite the fact that such an amendment was pledged by both parties in last fall's election.

Wicks wasn't looking ahead to the amending process today. His stand was aimed at the Mahoney-Bannigan bill introduced last week, which would eliminate the criminal penalties for charity bingo. The bill would make it possible for churches and fraternal groups to resume playing the game immediately for fund-raising purposes.

"PROPOSALS ARE being made," Wicks said, "to circumvent the constitutional prohibition against gambling by removing from the state law the existing penalties for playing bingo.

"Advocates of these proposals are knowingly or unknowingly advocating the weakening and eventual destruction of orderly, constitutional government. This advocacy is especially reprehensible at this time when the American form of government is

Chinese Reds Take Isle, May Threaten Tachens

Nationalists Fear Full-Scale Push

Taipeh, Formosa, Jan. 18 (AP)—A Communist invasion force backed by 20 warships struck strategic Yikiangshan today and apparently conquered the tiny Nationalist Chinese island outpost.

Reliable reports in the Nationalist capital said radio contact with the island was broken at 6 p. m. (5 a. m. EST) and it was presumed the Reds had completed their conquest.

An earlier defense ministry communique had prepared the public for the islands fall by announcing that Yikiangshan, a stepping stone to the important Tachen islands, was garrisoned "by a few brave guerrillas" who late today "were still resisting bravely."

UNOFFICIAL QUARTERS said they feared a full-scale invasion of the Tachens might come at any moment.

President Chiang Kai-shek called a conference of top level military leaders at Nationalist headquarters here tonight.

It was reliably reported that the Reds shelled the Tachens this afternoon but made no attempt to land there.

(Peiping radio said early Wednesday Chinese Communist amphibious forces Tuesday liberated Yikiangshan.

(The Chinese language broadcast was monitored in Tokyo by radio press agency.)

NATIONALIST REPORTS said the assault on Yikiangshan was delivered by 70 ships, including 20 warships, among them gunboats and torpedo boats.

Huge fires started on the island were clearly visible from the Tachens.

The U. S. 7th Fleet patrols the waters of the Formosa Strait, but there was no indication what steps—if any—the U. S. might take. The United States is committed to the defense of Formosa and the Pescadores, but has never said what it would do if any of the Nationalist offshore islands was invaded.

YIKIANGSHAN IS eight miles north of the Tachens and five miles south of Red-held Toumen island. From Yikiangshan the Reds could hammer

Rebels' Planes Seized

Arrival of Craft Halts Battle

San Jose, Costa Rica, Jan. 18 (AP)—The battlefront in Costa Rica's war against rebels quieted last night following the arrival of four U. S. fighter planes to bolster President Jose Figueres' forces.

Two of the three planes reportedly used by the insurgents promptly flew to Nicaragua and were seized by the Nicaraguan government.

Despite rebel radio claims of big victories, a general staff communique said during yesterday "no fights of any sort were reported in northwestern Costa Rica, the only previously active front.

"Advanced (army) patrols carried out active missions during the day," the communique said, "but in no case established contact with the enemy, which seems to be disconcerted and the victim of unrest."

ELSEWHERE in the country, the general staff added, "complete calm" prevailed, with the government in "absolute control of the situation."

Unofficial sources indicated that the government was getting ready for a big push in the Santa Rosa area, about 20 miles from the Nicaraguan frontier in the northwestern part of the country. One eyewitness said Loyalist reinforcements were moving up toward this sector.

The general staff communique contradicted claims of the rebel radio that insurgent troops defeated government forces in a pitched battle at Santa Rosa. The radio also claimed that former Costa Rican President Angel Calderon Guardia, "supreme commander" of the rebel forces "is now at the gates of Liberia."

A key city on the Inter-American Highway, Liberia is about 20 miles south of Santa Rosa and 138 miles northwest of San Jose. It has been strafed several times by rebel planes.

FIGUERES APPEARED confident of final victory after getting the American ferry pilots who landed the four World War 2 type F51D Mustang fighters at El Coco Airport, outside San Jose.

"Things are going well," he commented. "I can see little choice for them (the rebels) but to surrender and go back to Nicaragua."

Costa Rica has accused neighboring Nicaragua of aiding the rebels with arms, training and supplies, a charge Nicaragua denies. A five-nation investigation commission sent by the Organization of American States (OAS) last week said Nicaragua was the base for the insurgent attack, which started last Tuesday.

The OAS commission arrived in Managua, capital of Nicaragua, yesterday to investigate Nicaraguan claims that the government of President Anastasio

Convicts Seize Five Guards, Demand Car

Boston, Jan. 18 (AP)—Four dangerous Massachusetts State Prison convicts rebelled today, seized five guards at gunpoint and demanded a car to gain freedom from the 150-year-old, brick and granite bastille.

The desperadoes allowed the Rev. Edward Hartigan, Catholic chaplain, into an isolated solitary confinement cellblock, scene of the riot, to hear confessions of four of the guards. The fifth is not a Catholic.

Deputy Warden Perely S. Vance answered, "I won't comment," when asked directly if the desperate prisoners made any threats against the guard-hostages in bargaining for liberty.

A few minutes after 10 a. m., Vance told newsmen he talked by telephone with the revolters. He said the telephone was answered by Walter H. Balben, 37, one of the prisoners.

Vance said Balben let him talk to Warren Harrington, one of the hostage guards, and Harrington said they were "okay."

Theodore (Teddy) Green, 39, bank robber and escape artist, was described as ringleader of the rebels. Vance said Green and Balben both had pistols. Balben is serving a long term for murderous assault. He and Green were participants in a mass escape attempt Nov. 7, 1953.

THE OTHER TWO rebels, Vance said, were Fritz Swenson, 32, serving life for killing a police sergeant, who was involved in a riot at the prison in July of 1952, and Joseph Flaherty, serving a term for assault. Flaherty once was named Boston's Public Enemy No. 1.

Prison officials identified the guard hostages as Warren L. Harrington, Thomas D. Ryan, Gerard Kadlick, Martin S. Mulkerne and Eugene Wills.

First reports that an apparent wholesale delivery of the 600 inmates was being attempted brought some 200 heavily-armed Boston and state police to the scene.

They were withdrawn from their positions about the ancient stone prison after officials determined that the revolt was confined to the isolated two-story

Girl Is Dead Of Gun Wound

Miss Florence C. Walker, 17, a resident of the Sawkill Mountain road, and employed as an operator in a Kingston shirt factory, was found dead in bed Monday night of a gunshot wound in the chest which authorities decided was self-inflicted.

State police, who investigated, said a .35 calibre hunting rifle was found alongside the body, and District Attorney Howard C. St. John told the press a note was found in the room this morning, indicating that death was by suicide.

THE OFFICIAL verdict was issued early this afternoon by Coroner Francis J. McCardle, who said that there was no reason given in the note for the act, except that she was tired of living.

McCardle said death was due to hemorrhaging from a lacerated right auricular, according to the autopsy report this morning.

The investigation conducted by Sgt. Arthur A. Reilly of the state police bureau of criminal investigation, and Coroner McCardle, continued from last night until today, because of the presence of two bullet holes in the plaster of the bedroom, but close checks disclosed that the bullet had split into two pieces.

TWO YOUNGER sisters, Dorothy, 12, and Doris, 9, the only ones home with Florence, found the body after they heard a noise, they said.

The parents, Nelson H. and Elizabeth Clapper Walker, learned of their daughter's death, when they returned at 7:30 p. m. from a trip to Kingston with some laundry. They had been gone about an hour.

They called the state police and the coroner.

SURVIVING besides the parents and two young sisters are three other sisters, Mrs. Rudolph Steiner, Mrs. Harold Every and Mrs. Lewis Gorsline; also three brothers, Nelson W., Richard T. and James R. Walker.

Funeral services will be held at the McCardle Funeral Home, 99 Henry street, Thursday at 2 p. m., the Rev. Clyde Herbert Snell officiating. Burial in Willow Cemetery.

Columbia Medal Will Honor Late Board Chairman

The Alexander Hamilton Medal, Columbia College's highest alumni honor, will be awarded posthumously to Frederick Coykendall, native Kingstonian who was chairman of the Columbia University Trustees from 1933 until his death last November, according to the January issue of the Columbia Alumni News.

Coykendall was selected last fall by the Association of the Alumni of Columbia College as ninth recipient of the medal. He was to have received it as guest of honor at the 1955 Hamilton Dinner, scheduled for March 24.

However, in mourning for his sudden death on Nov. 18, the Association canceled the dinner and instead plans to present the medal to his family at a special ceremony to be held this spring.

Youngdahl Ends New Indictment

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—U. S. District Judge Luther Youngdahl today dismissed a new indictment accusing Owen Lattimore of swearing falsely when he denied he ever had been a follower of the Communist line or a promoter of Red interests.

In doing so Judge Youngdahl said:

"To require defendant (Lattimore) to go on trial for perjury under charges so formless and obscure as those before the court would make a sham of the Sixth Amendment and the federal rule requiring specificity of charges."

THE JUDGE apparently referred to the portion of the Sixth Amendment to the Contitution which requires that a defendant be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation. The defense in the Lattimore case has contended that the accusation was too vague to define an offense and permit preparation of a defense.

The charge which Youngdahl threw out was returned by a federal grand jury last October. The two-count indictment, in effect, replaced the key count of a December 1952 indictment. Youngdahl had dismissed that count in May 1953, and was upheld by the U. S. Court of Appeals here.

Dismissal of the new indictment is subject to appeal by the government. The government took that course when Youngdahl dismissed four of the seven counts of the original indictment.

The Court of Appeals restored two of the counts which Youngdahl had dismissed, but agreed with him on the main charge.

In throwing out the new charge Youngdahl said:

"The court cannot escape the conclusion that 'follower of the Communist line' is not a phrase with a meaning about which men of ordinary intellect could agree, nor one which could be used with mutual understanding by a questioner and answerer unless it were defined at the time it were sought and offered as testimony.

"THE COUNT, even with its apparent definition, is an open invitation to the jury to substitute, by conjecture, their understanding of the phrase for that

Atomic Sub Is Still on Trials

Groton, Conn., Jan. 18 (AP)—Man was a full day into the era of nuclear transportation today as the submarine Nautilus, first of a proposed fleet of seven atomic powered undersea craft, remained at sea on her history making builder's trials.

A spokesman said these trials were to last a full 36 hours, and that the Nautilus was not expected to return to her berth at the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp., here until "very late tonight."

IN MAN'S first successful effort to tame the atom to provide transportation, the $29,000,000 cigar-shaped giant eased smoothly from her dock here late yesterday morning under clear skies.

With an absence of fanfare, her skipper, Cmdr. Eugene P. Wilkinson, San Diego, Calif., flashed a short message confirming his craft was under way on nuclear power, and moved the submarine into the trial area of Long Island Sound at a 12-knot speed.

AS THE NAUTILUS glided on its maiden run, it passed a sister-ship, the Sea Wolf, second of the nation's atomic powered

GOP Firm About Any Tax Boost

Veto Power Only Obstacle to Plan

Albany, Jan. 18 (AP) — Only Gov. Harriman's veto power could bar continuance of state income and unincorporated business taxes at present rates for another year, it appeared today.

The Democratic Governor has given no hint of whether he would sign or reject Republican bills to continue abatements from the full tax rates.

Measures to continue personal income taxes at 90 per cent of the full rate and the unincorporated business levy at 75 per cent were introduced in the Legislature last night.

SPONSORED BY the GOP chairmen of the Senate and Assembly fiscal committees and backed by heavy Republican majorities in both Houses, the bills seem certain of passage.

Abatements from the full rates would lapse for taxes on 1954 incomes, however, if Harriman were to veto the bills. The full rate would become effective for 1955 payments on earnings last year.

Continuation of present rates would not guarantee that there would be increase in personal income taxes. They could be raised by cutting personal exemptions and by adding new and higher tax brackets. Both plans are under discussion.

Byrd Proposes Budget Cuts

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—Sen. Byrd (D.-Va.) urged the Eisenhower administration today to pare its spending plans by 4 per cent and balance the federal budget.

A good place to start, Byrd said in an interview, would be on the $4,700,000,000 outlay for foreign aid proposed by President Eisenhower in the annual budget message he submitted to Congress yesterday.

THIS WAS ONE of the major items in a $62,408,000,000 spending budget Eisenhower recommended for the bookkeeping year starting next July 1.

Congress responded generally along partisan lines to his "first things first" message calling for increased and slimmed-down ground forces.

DEMOCRATS GIBED at the President's failure thus far to keep his 1952 presidential campaign promises to balance the budget, criticized his "partnership" power development program and challenged his cut in farm outlays.

Republicans generally defended Eisenhower's figures as indicative of the hard realities of defense spending in an uncertain era, although a number said they were disappointed at the lack of a balanced budget. The President forecast a deficit of $2,408,000,000, about half the size of the one anticipated this year.

BYRD, CHAIRMAN of the Senate Finance Committee and a long-time critic of deficit spending under previous Democratic administrations, made it clear he doesn't think Congress will be very successful in saving money because of the large amount of funds previously appropriated and available for administration spending.

But he said if the administration would take it upon itself to cut back spending 4 per cent—about 2½ billion dollars—the government could operate in the black for the first time since the fiscal year 1951.

"It is time that the administration and the Congress face

Dallas Man Gives Surprise Plea in Sweetheart Slaying

Dallas, Jan. 18 (AP) — Keith Petersen, handsome son of a Dallas utility executive, executive, faced as little as seven years in prison today after a surprise plea of guilty in the slaying of his sweetheart.

Petersen, 26, could have received death in the electric chair, or acquittal, for the 1949 slaying of pretty Carolyn Schofield. But his father said last night that he feared a "vicious" jury might assess the death penalty.

The elder Petersen and opposing attorneys told of a "swapout" which resulted in the guilty plea and Judge Henry King's passing of a sentence of "life imprisonment."

Defense attorneys said they agreed to the guilty plea on the condition that the state drop its demand for a death penalty. They said they also asked—and received—agreement that Petersen's five years confinement in state mental hospitals would be counted as part of his prison term.

This means in Texas that Petersen, once described by Dist. Atty. Henry Wade as a "pampered, egotistical boy guilty of a premeditated, cold-blooded murder," will be eligible for parole in seven or eight years.

On Sept. 2, 1949, Petersen, then 21, walked into a downtown office building where Miss Schofield worked as a secretary,

McCarthy Accuses Senator Of Distorting Report

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—Sen McCarthy (R.-Wis.) accused Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D.-S.C.) late yesterday of having "twisted and distorted" a report by the State Department on 90 persons termed suspect by McCarthy in 1950.

Johnston, in South Carolina to attend state inaugural ceremonies today, was not reached for comment.

HE HAD ANNOUNCED Sunday that he had a letter from the State Department in reply to his questions about 90 persons who figured in McCarthy's early charges that the department was infested by Communists.

Johnston, noting that Republicans now control the department, said it had informed him "that not one of these persons . . . has been proved to be or found to be a Communist or disloyal to our government." He said the letter "should clear up this matter for all time."

McCarthy, who obtained a copy of the letter, said that as he interprets it, "to say they were all cleared of being Communists is completely false."

Both he and the department made public copies of the letters to Johnston, but with the names deleted—in keeping with presidential directives, the department said.

McCARTHY CONTENDED the letter showed that Johnston was "twisting and distorting the truth a great deal," and that the South Carolinian was at least "grossly mistaken."

The State Department letter, signed by Asst. Secretary Thruston B. Morton, noted that none of the various laws or presidential orders dealing with loyalty or security cases "requires that it be proved that a person is a Communist before he may be discharged . . ."

Johnston had asked the department about two groups of persons—10 he said were named publicly by McCarthy before a 1950 Senate subcommittee which investigated his charges, and 80 accused by McCarthy under other circumstances.

AS FOR THE 10 in the first category, the department said one had been removed from the payroll under a 1951 law which provides the basis for the present security program, one was discharged under the old Truman loyalty program, one was dropped for failing to meet foreign service standards, two were never department employes, two

Police Are Draining Canal In Search for Girl's Body

Suffield, Conn., Jan. 18 (AP)—Police resume draining a frozen canal here today in their search for 20-year-old Celia Cienski whose bloddied undergarments were found on its banks after her disappearance Sunday night.

Police said she had gone to the canal on a parking date with 35-year-old Joseph DeMaio of Springfield, Mass.

Sought in a 16-state alarm, DeMaio is charged in the warrant with assault with intent to rape.

Police Chief Frank Sutula said the search began at the canal yesterday morning when a pair of panties, a silk stocking, part of a brassiere and an earring were found there.

After an unsuccessful attempt to drag the canal, police started draining but had to give up at 10 p. m. because boats used in the operation were freezing in the water.

Chief Sutula said Celia and her sister, Ann, 22, had met DeMaio and Jerry Celetti, 34, also of Springfield, in a Thompsonville hotel Sunday afternoon. The two couples double-dated until late Sunday when Celia asked DeMaio to take her home, Chief Sutula said.

Then he quoted Ann as saying she and Celetti waited in a restaurant for DeMaio to return

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—U. S. District Judge Luther Youngdahl today dismissed a new indictment accusing Owen Lattimore of swearing falsely when he denied he ever had been a follower of the Communist line or a promoter of Red interests.

In doing so Judge Youngdahl said:

"To require defendant (Lattimore) to go on trial for perjury under charges so formless and obscure as those before the court would make a sham of the Sixth Amendment and the federal rule requiring specificity of charges."

THE JUDGE apparently referred to the portion of the Sixth Amendment to the Constitution which requires that a defendant be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation. The defense in the Lattimore case has contended that the accusation was too vague to define an offense and permit preparation of a defense.

The charge which Youngdahl threw out was returned by a federal grand jury last October. The two-count indictment, in effect, replaced the key count of a December 1952 indictment. Youngdahl had dismissed that count in May 1953, and was upheld by the U. S. Court of Appeals here.

Dismissal of the new indictment is subject to appeal by the government. The government took that course when Youngdahl dismissed four of the seven counts of the original indictment.

The Court of Appeals restored two of the counts which Youngdahl had dismissed, but agreed with him on the main charge.

In throwing out the new charge Youngdahl said:

"The court cannot escape the conclusion that 'follower of the Communist line' is not a phrase with a meaning about which men of ordinary intellect could agree, nor one which could be used with mutual understanding by a questioner and answerer unless it were defined at the time it were sought and offered as testimony.

"THE COUNT, even with its apparent definition, is an open invitation to the jury to substitute, by conjecture, their understanding of the phrase for that

Atomic Sub Is Still on Trials

Groton, Conn., Jan. 18 (AP)—Man was a full day into the era of nuclear transportation today as the submarine Nautilus, first of a proposed fleet of seven atomic powered undersea craft, remained at sea on her history making builder's trials.

A spokesman said these trials were to last a full 36 hours, and that the Nautilus was not expected to return to her berth at the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp., here until "very late tonight."

IN MAN'S first successful effort to tame the atom to provide transportation, the $29,000,000 cigar-shaped giant eased smoothly from her dock here late yesterday morning under clear skies.

With an absence of fanfare, her skipper, Cmdr. Eugene P. Wilkinson, San Diego, Calif., flashed a short message confirming his craft was under way on nuclear power, and moved the submarine into the trial area of Long Island Sound at a 12-knot speed.

AS THE NAUTILUS glided on its maiden run, it passed a sister-ship, the Sea Wolf, second of the nation's atomic powered

GOP Firm About Any Tax Boost

Veto Power Only Obstacle to Plan

Albany, Jan. 18 (AP) — Only Gov. Harriman's veto power could bar continuance of state income and unincorporated business taxes at present rates for another year, it appeared today.

The Democratic Governor has given no hint of whether he would sign or reject Republican bills to continue abatements from the full tax rates.

Measures to continue personal income taxes at 90 per cent of the full rate and the unincorporated business levy at 75 per cent were introduced in the Legislature last night.

SPONSORED BY the GOP chairmen of the Senate and Assembly fiscal committees and backed by heavy Republican majorities in both Houses, the bills seem certain of passage.

Abatements from the full rates would lapse for taxes on 1954 incomes, however, if Harriman were to veto the bills. The full rate would become effective for 1955 payments on earnings last year.

Continuation of present rates would not guarantee that there would be increase in personal income taxes. They could be raised by cutting personal exemptions and by adding new and higher tax brackets. Both plans are under discussion.

Byrd Proposes Budget Cuts

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—Sen. Byrd (D.-Va.) urged the Eisenhower administration today to pare its spending plans by 4 per cent and balance the federal budget.

A good place to start, Byrd said in an interview, would be on the $4,700,000,000 outlay for foreign aid proposed by President Eisenhower in the annual budget message he submitted to Congress yesterday.

THIS WAS ONE of the major items in a $62,408,000,000 spending budget Eisenhower recommended for the bookkeeping year starting next July 1.

Congress responded generally along partisan lines to his "first things first" message calling for increased and slimmed-down ground forces.

DEMOCRATS GIBED at the President's failure thus far to keep his 1952 presidential campaign promises to balance the budget, criticized his "partnership" power development program and challenged his cut in farm outlays.

Republicans generally defended Eisenhower's figures as indicative of the hard realities of defense spending in an uncertain era, although a number said they were disappointed at the lack of a balanced budget. The President forecast a deficit of $2,408,000,000, about half the size of the one anticipated this year.

BYRD, CHAIRMAN of the Senate Finance Committee and a long-time critic of deficit spending under previous Democratic administrations, made it clear he doesn't think Congress will be very successful in saving money because of the large amount of funds previously appropriated and available for administration spending.

But he said if the administration would take it upon itself to cut back spending 4 per cent —about 2½ billion dollars—the government could operate in the black for the first time since the fiscal year 1951.

"It is time that the administration and the Congress face

Dallas Man Gives Surprise Plea in Sweetheart Slaying

Dallas, Jan. 18 (AP) — Keith Petersen, handsome son of a Dallas utility executive, executive, faced as little as seven years in prison today after a surprise plea of guilty in the slaying of his sweetheart.

Petersen, 26, could have received death in the electric chair, or acquittal, for the 1949 slaying of pretty Carolyn Schofield. But his father said last night that he feared a "vicious" jury might assess the death penalty.

The elder Petersen and opposing attorneys told of a "swap-out" which resulted in the guilty plea and Judge Henry King's passing of a sentence of "life imprisonment."

Defense attorneys said they agreed to the guilty plea on the condition that the state drop its demand for a death penalty. They said they also asked—and received—agreement that Petersen's five years confinement in state mental hospitals would be counted as part of his prison term.

This means in Texas that Petersen, once described by Dist. Atty. Henry Wade as a "pampered, egotistical boy guilty of a premeditated, cold-blooded murder," will be eligible for parole in seven or eight years.

On Sept. 2, 1949, Petersen, then 21, walked into a downtown office building where Miss Schofield worked as a secretary,

McCarthy Accuses Senator Of Distorting Report

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—Sen McCarthy (R.-Wis.) accused Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D.-S.C.) late yesterday of having "twisted and distorted" a report by the State Department on 90 persons termed suspect by McCarthy in 1950.

Johnston, in South Carolina to attend state inaugural ceremonies today, was not reached for comment.

HE HAD ANNOUNCED Sunday that he had a letter from the State Department in reply to his questions about 90 persons who figured in McCarthy's early charges that the department was infested by Communists.

Johnston, noting that Republicans now control the department, said it had informed him "that not one of these persons . . . has been proved to be or found to be a Communist or disloyal to our government." He said the letter "should clear up this matter for all time."

McCarthy, who obtained a copy of the letter, said that as he interprets it, "to say they were all cleared of being Communists is completely false."

Both he and the department made public copies of the letters to Johnston, but with the names deleted—in keeping with presidential directives, the department said.

McCARTHY CONTENDED the letter showed that Johnston was "twisting and distorting the truth a great deal," and that the South Carolinian was at least "grossly mistaken."

The State Department letter, signed by Asst. Secretary Thruston B. Morton, noted that none of the various laws or presidential orders dealing with loyalty or security cases "requires that it be proved that a person is a Communist before he may be discharged . . ."

Johnston had asked the department about two groups of persons—10 he said were named publicly by McCarthy before a 1950 Senate subcommittee which investigated his charges, and 80 accused by McCarthy under other circumstances.

AS FOR THE 10 in the first category, the department said one had been removed from the payroll under a 1951 law which provides the basis for the present security program, one was discharged under the old Truman loyalty program, one was dropped for failing to meet foreign service standards, two were never department employes, two

Suffield, Conn., Jan. 18 (AP)—Police resume draining a frozen canal here today in their search for 20-year-old Celia Cienski whose bloddied undergarments were found on its banks after her disappearance Sunday night.

Police said she had gone to the canal on a parking date with 35-year-old Joseph DeMaio of Springfield, Mass.

Sought in a 16-state alarm, DeMaio is charged in the warrant with assault with intent to rape.

Police Chief Frank Sutula said the search began at the canal yesterday morning when a pair of panties, a silk stocking, part of a brassiere and an earring were found there.

After an unsuccessful attempt to drag the canal, police started draining but had to give up at 10 p. m. because boats used in the operation were freezing in the water.

Chief Sutula said Celia and her sister, Ann, 22, had met DeMaio and Jerry Celetti, 34, also of Springfield, in a Thompsonville hotel Sunday afternoon. The two couples double-dated until late Sunday when Celia asked DeMaio to take her home, Chief Sutula said.

Then he quoted Ann as saying she and Celetti waited in a restaurant for DeMaio to return

President Watches News

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—President Eisenhower closely followed reports of the Red Chinese capture of a small island from the Chinese Nationalists. The obvious concern of the U. S. government was whether it was a prelude to an attack on Formosa. Eisenhower discussed the development with Republican congressional leaders at their regular Tuesday conference and the White House said the President and Secretary of State Dulles had been "in touch" during the morning, presumably about the attack.

Nicaragua Gets Planes

Managua, Nicaragua, Jan. 18 (AP)—A shipping official said today 25 American-made F51 fighter planes bought from Sweden have arrived in Nicaragua. This is believed to give Nicaragua — now feuding with neighboring Costa Rica—the biggest air force in Central America. President Anastasio Somoza has said he wants to keep only 5 or 10 and sell the rest. They were bought in November from Sweden, which purchased them originally from the United States. The selling price to Nicaragua was $600,000. The official said the crated planes arrived at Corinto, a Pacific port, yesterday aboard the German freighter Leanna.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—The stock market rallied with spirit today following yesterday's severe break.

Prices gained ground generally throughout the list with gains going to between 1 and 3 points at the best.

Business progressed at a good rate above yesterday's 3,360,000 shares.

The market was lower at the opening with selling brisk. Those offerings soon were absorbed, and prices steadied.

Within a few minutes, buyers thronged into the market in full force and scrambled for stocks at higher prices. The tape fell behind two minutes in reporting floor transactions.

Late Bulletin

San Jose, Costa Rica, Jan. 18 (AP)—Costa Rica's general staff declared today rebel commander Teodoro Picado, Jr., has been killed on the Santa Rosa front, along with 34 of his men, and that it has "full confirmation" of his death.

The general staff did not say how it had confirmed that Picado, 27-year-old son of a former Costa Rican president and 1954 graduate of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, had been killed.

But it reported a total of 35 debels dead and 60 wounded in the action around Santa Rosa, in northwestern Costa Rica about 20 miles from the Nicaraguan frontier, against government losses of 4 men killed and 18 wounded.

PolioCostsHigher Than $44,000 in County for 1954

The Ulster County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis during 1954 paid treatment bills for 48 local polio patients amount to $10,368.83, it was announced today by Howard Stephens, chapter treasurer.

"Polio is a disease which leaves in its wake many patients who require expensive long-term aid," Stephens said, adding that one such patient, stricken in 1952, has received more than $5,950 in financial assistance.

DURING 1954, March of Dimes funds supplied 2,000 iron lungs, 700 rocking beds and 200 hot pack machines, he said. Physical therapy treatments were widely given to strengthen weakened muscles.

He noted that in 1954 the Ulster County Chapter, along with others throughout the nation, joined with national headquarters in financing the new polio prevention program. One part of this program was the polio vaccine field trial in which 440,000 children received the Salk vaccine and 1,390,000 participated as "controls."

IN ULSTER COUNTY the cost of the vaccine administered amounted to more than $34,000. This figure added to the sum expended for patient care here was more than the total amount collected in Ulster county in the 1954 drive.

The effectiveness of this vaccine, Stephens said, is now being studied under a March of Dimes grant at the University of Michigan. A report on the evaluation of the vaccine is expected by spring.

"All of us hope that the report will point to a future free of this disease," Stephens said. He added:

"It should be noted, however, that even if the report is highly favorable, we must be prepared to give every possible aid to persons stricken in former years as well as those many others who will be touched by polio before any vaccine can be made widely available."

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

A lot of young folks say: "Things are different from when Dad and Granddad were boys. They had a chance. The country was growing. But how can you go places now?"

Sure, there are big corporations. But how about the small corporations? More of them than ever before. Read that over slowly. It's the truth.

Think up an idea. Look about you. Everything you see started from an idea. Show me anything, and I can prove it started just that way.

Mr. Hutton

There was a time when all the bread was baked at home. Then some one got an idea. Let's set up a shop and bake bread, — make it a profession. An idea took that load off the housewife's back!

The typewriter was an idea. And it gave jobs to millions of women. You can't go into a hardware store without seeing scores of useful gadgets on the market for the first time. One man's idea makes things shut, and another man's makes things open. Result: better mousetraps and can-openers. Why, it's easy! Bread all sliced when bought. The man who thought that one up didn't need even a dime of capital.

Bigger markets too, — about 160,000,000 customers. The men with ideas in the old days never had that asset. And it cost nothing. The stork brought them!

The only thing that stands in your way to success is taxes. Got an idea, neighbor, about taxes?

Penalties Are Part Of New Tax Law

District Director R. J. Ratterree of the internal revenue service district today called attention to provisions of the new tax law which provides penalties for willful failure by firms or employers to make required deposits of excise and employment taxes.

Firms and employers are required to deposit in a federal reserve bank or other authorized federal depository, excise taxes in certain cases, and employes' income tax withheld, social security and railroad retirement taxes.

The Internal Revenue Code of 1954 now provides penalties which can run as high as 6 per cent of the amounts not deposited. The new provisions become applicable to excise and employment taxes covering periods beginning in 1955.

Might Be Same Man

Irvington, N. J., Jan. 18 (AP)—Police today theorized that the mugger-slayer of Mrs. Alex Lanzner might be the same man who they said fatally clubbed two other women in Newark. Mrs. Lanzner, attractive 30-year-old first cousin of comedian Jerry Lewis, was beaten Friday night on a street near her home at 60 Bedford Terrace here. She died of injuries on Sunday. Dr. Edwin H. Albano, Essex county medical examiner, said her death was caused by a severe blow on the head, perhaps by a pipe or auto jack handle.

President Watches News

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—President Eisenhower closely followed reports of the Red Chinese capture of a small island from the Chinese Nationalists. The obvious concern of the U. S. government was whether it was a prelude to an attack on Formosa. Eisenhower discussed the development with Republican congressional leaders at their regular Tuesday conference and the White House said the President and Secretary of State Dulles had been "in touch" during the morning, presumably about the attack.

Nicaragua Gets Planes

Managua, Nicaragua, Jan. 18 (AP)—A shipping official said today 25 American-made F51 fighter planes bought from Sweden have arrived in Nicaragua. This is believed to give Nicaragua — now feuding with neighboring Costa Rica—the biggest air force in Central America. President Anastasio Somoza has said he wants to keep only 5 or 10 and sell the rest. They were bought in November from Sweden, which purchased them originally from the United States. The selling price to Nicaragua was $600,000. The official said the crated planes arrived at Corinto, a Pacific port, yesterday aboard the German freighter Leanna.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—The stock market rallied with spirit today following yesterday's severe break.

Prices gained ground generally throughout the list with gains going to between 1 and 3 points at the best.

Business progressed at a good rate above yesterday's 3,360,000 shares.

The market was lower at the opening with selling brisk. Those offerings soon were absorbed, and prices steadied.

Within a few minutes, buyers thronged into the market in full force and scrambled for stocks at higher prices. The tape fell behind two minutes in reporting floor transactions.

Late Bulletin

San Jose, Costa Rica, Jan. 18 (AP)—Costa Rica's general staff declared today rebel commander Teodoro Picado, Jr., has been killed on the Santa Rosa front, along with 34 of his men, and that it has "full confirmation" of his death.

The general staff did not say how it had confirmed that Picado, 27-year-old son of a former Costa Rican president and 1954 graduate of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, had been killed.

But it reported a total of 35 debels dead and 60 wounded in the action around Santa Rosa, in northwestern Costa Rica about 20 miles from the Nicaraguan frontier, against government losses of 4 men killed and 18 wounded.

PolioCostsHigher Than $44,000 in County for 1954

The Ulster County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis during 1954 paid treatment bills for 48 local polio patients amount to $10,368.83, it was announced today by Howard Stephens, chapter treasurer.

"Polio is a disease which leaves in its wake many patients who require expensive long-term aid," Stephens said, adding that one such patient, stricken in 1952, has received more than $5,950 in financial assistance.

DURING 1954, March of Dimes funds supplied 2,000 iron lungs, 700 rocking beds and 200 hot pack machines, he said. Physical therapy treatments were widely given to strengthen weakened muscles.

He noted that in 1954 the Ulster County Chapter, along with others throughout the nation, joined with national headquarters in financing the new polio prevention program. One part of this program was the polio vaccine field trial in which 440,000 children received the Salk vaccine and 1,390,000 participated as "controls."

IN ULSTER COUNTY the cost of the vaccine administered amounted to more than $34,000. This figure added to the sum expended for patient care here was more than the total amount collected in Ulster county in the 1954 drive.

The effectiveness of this vaccine, Stephens said, is now being studied under a March of Dimes grant at the University of Michigan. A report on the evaluation of the vaccine is expected by spring.

"All of us hope that the report will point to a future free of this disease," Stephens said. He added:

"It should be noted, however, that even if the report is highly favorable, we must be prepared to give every possible aid to persons stricken in former years as well as those many others who will be touched by polio before any vaccine can be made widely available."

Penalties Are Part Of New Tax Law

District Director R. J. Ratterree of the internal revenue service district today called attention to provisions of the new tax law which provides penalties for willful failure by firms or employers to make required deposits of excise and employment taxes.

Firms and employers are required to deposit in a federal reserve bank or other authorized federal depository, excise taxes in certain cases, and employes' income tax withheld, social security and railroad retirement taxes.

The Internal Revenue Code of 1954 now provides penalties which can run as high as 6 per cent of the amounts not deposited. The new provisions become applicable to excise and employment taxes covering periods beginning in 1955.

Might Be Same Man

Irvington, N. J., Jan. 18 (AP)—Police today theorized that the mugger-slayer of Mrs. Alex Lanzner might be the same man who they said fatally clubbed two other women in Newark. Mrs. Lanzner, attractive 30-year-old first cousin of comedian Jerry Lewis, was beaten Friday night on a street near her home at 60 Bedford Terrace here. She died of injuries on Sunday. Dr. Edwin H. Albano, Essex county medical examiner, said her death was caused by a severe blow on the head, perhaps by a pipe or auto jack handle.

Wieber and Other Loan Officers Reelected Monday

Henry J. Wieber was reelected president of Home-Seekers' Savings and Loan Association at the organization meeting held last evening. Other officers reelected were John B. Sterley, vice president and counsel; Deweese W. DeWitt, executive secretary and treasurer; William D. Costello and Harry L. Kirchner, assistant secretaries; and Samuel H. Peyer, assistant treasurer.

The directors established a new office with the title of auditor and William F. Paulus was elected to this position.

This meeting was preceded by the annual shareholders' meeting, at which Frank W. Thompson, J. Allan Wood and William B. Byrne were reelected directors for terms of three years. Other directors of the association are Harry Halverson, Raymond Howe, Harry Hymes, Harry L. Kirchner, Wilmer S. Nickerson, Samuel H. Peyer, John B. Sterley and Henry J. Wieber.

IN HIS ANNUAL report to the shareholders, DeWitt reported that the association passed all previous records during 1954. Assets were $9,227,949.14 at the close of the year. Net income for the year reached a new high of $262,500 and of this approximately $197,000 was paid to members in dividends and $65,500 was added to surplus and reserves.

During the past year the association has added additional services in the nature of vacation clubs, general tax clubs and school tax clubs. These are in addition to the regular Christmas clubs and make it possible for a person to accumulate funds weekly for vacations and taxes the same as in a Christmas club. The association has found that these are very popular.

DeWitt reported that the association had a remarkable year so far as new loans were concerned. A total of 281 was closed for a new high dollar amount of $1,654,000. Approximately one-half of this figure or $811,000 was for the construction of new homes. This is the highest percentage of construction loans that the association ever has experienced and he attributes this to the fact the Home-Seekers "has an especially fine construction loan program which builders and the public appreciate."

"IT APPEARS that 1955 will be a new banner year. Increased employment in Kingston should bring in new savings accounts which in turn will be invested in new mortgages," DeWitt said. "The increased demand for mortgages on new homes and for the purchase of existing homes already has been noticed during the first three weeks of this year. The excessive demand for new homes during the past few months has caused an increase in the asking price for homes in this vicinity. Home-Seekers has always maintained a conservative lending policy and will endeavor to keep from overloading on any single property. This will assure the savings members that their investment will be protected by a sound mortgage lending plan."

Feeding Plays Big Role in Saratoga Witness Meeting

RICHARD KEPNER

"With only two weeks to go until the next semi-annual circuit assembly of Jehovah's witnesses in Saratoga Springs, preparations are now in full swing for the feeding of the expected crowd of 1,000." The foregoing statement was made today by Richard Kepner, cafeteria manager of the assembly.

Kepner, who has had charge of the cafeteria of these assemblies for several years, said today that "plans for setting up a cafeteria and kitchen in Convention Hall are underway. A lot of preparation is necessary to establish and maintain a cafeteria such as this." Kepner went on to say "Inasmuch as Convention Hall does not have a kitchen, we have to bring in our own equipment; such as stoves and bottled gas, refrigeration, and dishwashing equipment, in addition to pots and pans, silverware, folding tables for serving meals, etc." He also expressed his appreciation for the fine cooperation received from the mayor and board of health in this connection.

KEPNER ADDED "It takes a great deal of help to clean, prepare and serve all this food. All the work is accomplished by volunteer workers. All the work at these assemblies is done by Jehovah's witnesses themselves. They take care of the cafeteria, sanitation, parking and traffic details, the decorating of the stage or platform, etc. The harmony and unity of these volunteer workers is wonderful to behold. They do their work joyously, without complaint, and with a willing heart."

With such a large crowd descending on Saratoga, the question arose as to where to house all the delegates. John Wellington, manager of the rooming committee, said, "accommodations are being made to house the delegates in various hotels, motels, cabins, and also in private homes. The people of Saratoga have been very cordial and cooperative. We have obtained all the room necessary to house the delegates." Wellington was asked where all these delegates were coming from. "From as far north as Warrensburg, to Kingston on the south; from Schenectady to Pittsfield, Mass.; and from parts of Vermont and New Hampshire," he replied.

Specialized training courses are being made available to both officers and airmen in various fields. Reservists who are interested are requested to attend one of the Tuesday night meetings. These courses will be on pay status.

New U. S. Budget Reflects Reason for Market Climb

New York, Jan 18 (AP)—Senators asking why stock prices climbed so fast in November and December can find one of the answers today in the President's new budget.

President Eisenhower expects U. S. Treasury receipts to rise by one billion dollars in the next fiscal year because his advisers look for corporate profits to increase by seven per cent and the total of individuals' incomes to climb four per cent.

Stock traders came to the same conclusion several months ago. They expect business to be better and profits (and dividends) higher for the corporations whose shares they've been buying—if not for all.

THE STOCK MARKET rise has been anticipating the better business prospects. Some brokers warn that it may well have discounted the gains by now for most of the favorites in the long upward surge of the market.

But new plans keep popping up for expanding the economy. The proposal to spend 101 billion dollars for new highways in the next 10 years is one. The plan to spent 600 million dollars on bridges and expressways in the New York Metropolitan area is still another. For some industries and spells good times, and profits.

That the administration hopes to carry out its plans for expanding the economy without setting off a new round of inflation is indicated by recent moves to tighten credit, which have resulted in slightly higher interest rates, and in its slight hike in stock margin requirements so that traders now must put up 60 per cent cash when buying stocks.

THE UPCOMING senatorial study of why the stock market shot upward is another indication of official uneasiness lest a runaway boom get rolling.

But stock traders aren't so sure that further inflation will be avoided entirely. And some doubt that the slight tightening of credit will have much effect on the market, since most of the trading has been for cash anyway.

Many realize, however, that one of the prime factors behind the bull market stock rise was the easy money policy pushed by the official money managers to halt the business slump last year.

Another prime factor has been the steady buying of stocks by the investment funds and those managing the reserves of corporate and union pension funds, of colleges and other institutions.

THESE PURCHASES not only tended to push up stock prices, but most of these stocks went into bank vaults and made the stock market thin. That is, they reduced the number of stocks available for sale—and this reacted on prices as any other shortage would.

Another reason for the thin market, brokers say, is the capital gains tax. Lucky persons who bought stocks many months ago and still have them have made pretty profits on paper. They could turn these paper profits into greenbacks if they cared to sell—but with Uncle Sam right there ready to take a quarter of those greenbacks as capital gains taxes, many a stock holder would rather hold onto his shares and his paper profits.

TRADING VOLUME, it's true, was high many days in recent weeks. But brokers also caution that often this volume was based on low priced stocks, not on blue chips.

If you sell 1,000 shares of a $100 stock the money changing hands comes to $100,000. You have to sell 10,000 shares of a $10 stock to make as much money change hands. But when a lot of the cheaper stock sells, the trading volume for the day looks huge—and may not indicate at all that much money is in the market.

All of these things, the brokers say, the senators will be told when they study the market—including the President's own forecast of higher corporate profits.

Peter Ferraro was named trustee for three years while members of the executive board include John Valentine, Howard Ives, Frank Tiano, Joseph Vigna and Charles Campbell. Clementine Nessel was appointed by the president as his assistant.

President Cole and Secretary Marchuk, in their annual reports, expressed the continuance of the good-will and close harmony existing between the employers and members of the Musicians Union.

It was pointed out that a total of $2,700 was spent during 1954 through the Music Performance Trust Fund to bring free music to local institutions, civic programs and dances for the youngsters. Peter Ferraro was chairman of the program.

Many realize, however, that one of the prime factors behind the bull market stock rise was the easy money policy pushed by the official money managers to halt the business slump last year.

Another prime factor has been the steady buying of stocks by the investment funds and those managing the reserves of corporate and union pension funds, of colleges and other institutions.

THESE PURCHASES not only tended to push up stock prices, but most of these stocks went into bank vaults and made the stock market thin. That is, they reduced the number of stocks available for sale—and this reacted on prices as any other shortage would.

Another reason for the thin market, brokers say, is the capital gains tax. Lucky persons who bought stocks many months ago and still have them have made pretty profits on paper. They could turn these paper profits into greenbacks if they cared to sell—but with Uncle Sam right there ready to take a quarter of those greenbacks as capital gains taxes, many a stock holder would rather hold onto his shares and his paper profits.

TRADING VOLUME, it's true, was high many days in recent weeks. But brokers also caution that often this volume was based on low priced stocks, not on blue chips.

If you sell 1,000 shares of a $100 stock the money changing hands comes to $100,000. You have to sell 10,000 shares of a $10 stock to make as much money change hands. But when a lot of the cheaper stock sells, the trading volume for the day looks huge—and may not indicate at all that much money is in the market.

All of these things, the brokers say, the senators will be told when they study the market—including the President's own forecast of higher corporate profits.

Cole Is Renamed Musicians' Head

John A. Cole was elected to his eighth term as president of Local 215, American Federation of Musicians, during a recent meeting.

Also elected, to serve until Dec. 31, 1955, were Salvatore Castiglione, vice president; Michael Marchuk, secretary and William Steuding, treasurer.

Peter Ferraro was named trustee for three years while members of the executive board include John Valentine, Howard Ives, Frank Tiano, Joseph Vigna and Charles Campbell. Clementine Nessel was appointed by the president as his assistant.

President Cole and Secretary Marchuk, in their annual reports, expressed the continuance of the good-will and close harmony existing between the employers and members of the Musicians Union.

It was pointed out that a total of $2,700 was spent during 1954 through the Music Performance Trust Fund to bring free music to local institutions, civic programs and dances for the youngsters. Peter Ferraro was chairman of the program.

OUR STAKE IN THE SUEZ CANAL

Most Americans, when they think about the Suez Canal, probably conceive of it as pretty much a British problem, since it has been pictured for so long as the "lifeline" of Britain's empire. But the fact is, the United States and all free peoples have a great stake in the canal.

In the decade since World War II ended, U. S. use of the canal has mounted more than tenfold. A very high percentage of this traffic is represented by the oil import trade which moves north through Suez from the islands of the Persian Gulf and other Middle Eastern points.

What would happen to this and other vital traffic if the canal were ever blocked off was symbolically illustrated recently when a vessel running this 104-mile course struck a steel structure and temporarily stopped the flow of ships.

Without the canal, all craft plying between India, the Middle East and the Atlantic ports of the Western Hemisphere, as well as all European destinations, would have to head around the southern tip of Africa.

The cost in time, miles and money would be tremendous, and in an acute moment of free world peril the delay could prove disastrous.

For example, a ship bound from a U. S. New England port to Karachi, India, would have to travel 3,500 miles farther, take two weeks longer and put out $28,000 more in making the passage.

Not too many people around the globe realize that the prized waterway which makes these important savings possible is actually run as a private enterprise, the Suez Canal Company. Both technically and financially, it has a performance record as one of the most efficient operations in modern business history.

Last year, for the 27th time, the company slashed toll charges. As traffic has climbed from 486 ships in 1870 towards 15,000 in 1954, operating economies have been passed on to the canal's users in the best free enterprise tradition.

Over the years, the company also has made many improvements, especially toward straightening, widening and deepening the channel which cuts a gash through the desert to link the Mediterranean and the Red Sea.

Fittingly for a roadway of international importance, the Suez is internationally owned and managed. Britain holds 44 per cent of the company's stock, but has only three of the 32 directors. The others represent Egypt, France, The Netherlands and the United States. The firm has an Egyptian charter, with headquarters in Paris and a Parisian director general.

In 1968, this prosperous business is scheduled to wind up its affairs, for then its 99-year concession from the Egyptian government runs out. Whatever happens then—a new concession, management by Egypt itself, or some other arrangement — the United States, Britain and other free powers will be deeply concerned that the Suez Canal not only be kept safe, but functioning as well as it has these 80-odd years.

HAPPY PARTNERSHIP

Webb and Knapp, one of the biggest realty firms in New York, if not in the country, is joining hands with the United States in trying to rebuild Korea. This firm has designed and is financing a large project which will enable Koreans to buy homes for about $5 a month.

The company will not do the construction work on the project, nor will it receive any financial return from it. The building will be done by Koreans, who also supplied native architects and engineers to work with their American counterparts in designing a minimum one-family house and apartment building adapted to Korea. Construction of the first project is now scheduled to start next May.

A happy partnership of private enterprise and government in carrying out a vital task is here shown. Together they are working to rebuild war-torn Korea, which all Asians are watching closely to see whether the Communists north of the truce line or the United States in the South takes the lead.

The governments and the realty people are working to teach the merits of free enterprise to the Koreans with action rather than words. In this housing project, private business is putting its weight behind the United States' drive against communism. More such joint ventures are needed in the never-ending struggle to stem communism and to eliminate distress wherever it exists.

'These Days'

THE TARIFF AGAIN

There are two ways of looking at President Eisenhower's tariff proposals which emanate from the Randall Commission:

One is that as we are going to give away some of our wealth to foreign countries anyhow, we might as well do it on an economic rather than an eleemosynary basis;

The other is that if all of the President's proposals go through, certain American industries, such as coal, electrical equipment, watches, wallboard, bicycles, ceramics, etc., etc., may have to be abandoned because they will be forced to compete in the American market with commodities that are made with cheaper labor, that can employ American capital which has a 14 percentage point benefit so far as income taxes are concerned, and that will come in at a reduced tariff.

The history of the tariff in the United States has, in the past, been principally the story of a conflict between manufactured goods and farm products, between the industrial East and the agricultural South and West. The American tariff was originally designed to protect our infant industries, which are no longer infants. In 1955, that is not the conflict. The differences of view are between the great units of production—Big Business, as it is called—and the small manufacturer.

Big Business is world-conscious. It not only hopes to sell universally, but it manufactures in many countries. Its capital is not only locally invested; it is invested in many countries Big business is accustomed for its units of productions to compete against other units of production within the same company as an Oldsmobile and a Buick compete against each other although both are owned and made by the same company; or as the British-made Ford competes against the American-made Ford not only in London but in New York. Big Business is not only politically internationalist but it is economically internationalist because that is the way it has been organized.

That is not true of the small manufacturer. He makes goods for a local market, whether that market is the United States or some region of the United States. He may or may not produce a superior product to one made elsewhere on the face of the Earth, but he employs American labor, pays taxes not only to the Federal Government but locally, and his price is geared to the American standard of living. If our smaller manufacturers are driven out of existence by faulty economic policies based on globalism rather than American interests, the social damage could be enormous.

Those who are doctrinaire about the free market to make the point that if such American manufacturers cannot compete with foreign goods, they ought to go out of business, as admission of their inefficiency. This position would undoubtedly have much virtue but when the Government subsidizes the export of American capital to manufacture competitive goods by a 14 percentage point differential, the advantage to the American manufacturing abroad with cheaper labor and cheaper costs all around is so great as to be non-competitive. It will be more efficient to manufacture in Canada than in the United States. A free market is only possible if there are no subsidies, no rebates, no economic tricks.

In this struggle, Big Business will, without doubt, win the immediate battle. It has utilized great persuasive forces to convince the American people that we ought to have a lower tariff, easier customs procedures, and now a rebate on taxes for investments abroad, a tax differential that benefits them tremendously. But this does not solve the social problem of unemployment in the United States and that will have to be solved because the unemployed vote in elections as well as the employed do, and their votes count for as much. In such a state as West Virginia where residual oil is knocking down the coal industry or in certain areas of the Southwest where lead and zinc are suffering the consequences of low tariffs, unemployment can develop into a major political issue as it already is a social problem.

The present tariff proposals are the most radical in our history. They have been discussed for years, but neither President Roosevelt nor President Truman—both low tariff men—dared politically to grant a subsidy for the export of capital. That has now been done and is before Congress for decision.

PREVENTION OF CHILDHOOD ACCIDENTS

A most challenging and interesting article appeared in the Journal of the American Medical Association entitled "Prevention of Childhood Accidents—What are we waiting for?" In this article the author, Dr. Harry F. Dietrich, University of California, points out that the death rates in children from the previously fearsome and fatal diseases such as diphtheria, typhoid, dysentery has dropped so rapidly that each year the accident death rate has accounted for a higher percentage of all childhood deaths.

"The control of grave infections has been the aim of medicine for years. Now we are faced with a new and temporarily disgraceful challenge — accidents today kill one-third of the children who die each year, instead of 1/20 of the year's toll as in 1900. These deaths are principally due to burns, drowning, poisoning, falls, crushing, and automobile accidents. There is the problem."

Just as there are "vaccines" to protect against typhoid, smallpox, and many other diseases, so Dr. Dietrich suggests a "vaccine" for accident prevention as follows: "Up to the age of 12 to 18 months, the infant needs complete protection from all accident hazards. If he is burned, drowned, crushed, poisoned or mangled, he has been denied that protection. Passing over several years, consider the child's situation at the age of 5 or 6 years when school and play take him away from the protection of the home. His safety depends now largely on what he has learned at home. Whether or not he dashes blindly into the street, stumbles into a water-filled quarry, ignites a pile of rubbish, loses his arm in some machinery, or drinks from a bottle of paint thinner depends on what his parents have taught him between the ages of 1 and 5. It must be apparent that after the age of one, protection must gradually be replaced by education; parents must begin to teach the child how to live safely with, rather than without fire, water, machinery, electricity, chemicals, etc. Accident prevention in the home requires three tools: foresight, time and discipline."

Friend or Enemy, It's Usually Up to the Wrangler

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—The optimistic view in the U. S. State Department is that French Assembly approval of the London and Paris agreements to rearm Western Germany solves the most pressing problem in Europe.

The more pessimistic view is that French Assembly action really solved nothing. Far from being the end of the story, this is merely the beginning. And there is trouble ahead.

In France itself, the Council of the Republic—corresponding to the U. S. Senate—has to approve the action of the Assembly—which corresponds to the U. S. House of Representatives.

Ratification by the Council has been taken for granted. But if the Council makes even minor amendments to the act of ratification, it will have to go back to the Assembly.

In this reconsideration by the Assembly, the slim 27-vote majority by which Premier Mendes-France obtained his vote of confidence on the issue, might disappear. The fact that some 80 deputies did not vote in the 287 to 260 approval is a further indication of the weakness of this situation.

IF FRANCE SHOULD finally fail to accept the London and Paris agreements, the political stability of Germany might become unstuck.

The German chancellor, Dr. Konrad Adenauer, has had to use practically all the good will he has commanded to carry the West German Republic along with his policy of Western European alliances. He has admittedly lost strength in the last few months.

There are now some doubts as to whether West Germany itself will ratify the London and Paris agreements, even though they might make the Germans the strongest people in Europe.

The factor overlooked in this situation is that there exists in Germany today a great distrust of remilitarization. This represents a complete change in German public opinion.

There is no question about the ability of Germany to raise and equip a 12-division, 500,000-man army. There is some question as to whether this new force would be popular.

EVEN CHANCELLOR ADENAUER HIMSELF is said to be hipped on his opposition to recreation of a war ministry and general staff that might again take over control of German government.

And so, the pessimistic appraisal of the European situation today is that Germany might conceivably never be rearmed, or that it might not be rearmed for a long time to come.

Coupled with this fear of recreating German military might —a fear that exists in France even more than in Germany— there is a strong desire in both countries to hold still another conference with the Russians before Germany is rearmed.

The German Socialists seem to feel that such talks might somehow further unification of East and West Germany. Premier Mendes-France seems to feel that he is cunning enough to negotiate more favorable living conditions with the Russians. Just what these conditions might be, he has never stated.

What this combination of circumstances adds up to is a belief that the coming weeks will see increasing pressure on the United States and the United Kingdom to agree to new talks with the Russians before Germany is rearmed.

This is where trouble lies for the United States.

IT IS NOW RECOGNIZED IN Washington that the French may have originally put forward their European Defense Community proposals as a stalling device to delay U. S. insistence on German rearmament.

Premier Mendes - France scrapped the EDC plan as an interference with his own ideas for first strengthening the domestic economy of France. The alternative which he accepted in the London and Paris agreements will be a godsend—if these agreements can be ratified by France and Germany.

If they cannot, there is trouble aplenty ahead for the United States and its Western European allies in finding a second alternative. It is admitted this must somehow involve the ultimate rearming of Western Germany. Without that, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization becomes a flimflam and its Western European defense plans are made inoperable.

What else this third plan might encompass, no one can now say. It would have to be hammered out in another Western European conference of completely unpredictable results.

Forecast Deficit Is Considered to Be Unrealistic for Fiscal Year

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Jan. 18—Has the Eisenhower administration learned a trick or two from the Roosevelt and Truman regimes —how to forecast a big deficit and then wind up with a much smaller one and make everybody feel there has been a great achievement on the fiscal front?

It begins to look that way as the President's message on financial affairs forecasts a deficit of $2.4 billions for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1955, which will wind up just about the time the presidential campaign begins in July 1956.

What makes the estimate of such a deficit unrealistic is the fact that everybody says business is beginning to boom and that we are in for an era of higher and higher national incomes in the next several years. The year-end forecasts were rosier than they have been in a long time. Yet the treasury solemnly predicts in the new budget that receipts from corporate taxes in fiscal 1956 will be less than either 1954 or 1955 and that individual income-tax receipts will not increase at all over 1954 in the fiscal year beginning next July.

But with reports coming in from all over the country about an increase in employment and a lengthening of the work week through overtime, and hence a bigger net to the wage earner after taxes, it is difficult to be as pessimistic as the treasury is on the matter of income-tax receipts.

It is to be noted that there will be another budget message presented to Congress in January, 1956, forecasting the outlook for the new fiscal year, and it will not be surprising if Mr. Eisenhower is able to say then that, inasmuch as the first six months of the fiscal year 1956 have passed, there are clear indications the budget will be in balance, after all, by June 30, 1956. It would be very important politically if the President is able to say something of that sort as the opening gun in the Republican campaign.

But as previous administrations have learned, it's better to be conservative in estimating receipts than to be rather liberal in forecasting what expenditures will be. One psychological advantage of such tactics is supposed to be the application of some degree of restraint on the spenders in Congress, to keep appropriations from going higher.

A look at the predictions of Democratic Presidents in the last 20 years shows a constant over-estimating of the annual deficit. Mr. Truman, for example, in his message to Congress forecasting the probable outcome of the fiscal year 1952, estimated a deficit of $16.5 billions, and the year wound up actually with a deficit of only one-fourth of that amount. This was a 75 per cent mistake. The next year Mr. Truman estimated a deficit of $14.4 billions and the actual result was just about $5 billions less.

What seemed most puzzling was Mr. Truman's estimate offered in January 1953—just before the Eisenhower administration took over—of a 1954 deficit of $9.9 billions, which turned out on June 30, 1954, to be only $3.1 billions. The Eisenhower administration's own first forecast made in January 1954 of $3.3 billions came much closer.

There are, of course, some technical explanations for the variations in receipts. Thus, for instance, a tax reduction was granted last year and hence new receipts must be developed to offset that loss. Also, the system of paying corporation taxes has been gradually moved up to a pay-as-you-go basis, so that in the next year or so there is bound to be less income in a particular fiscal year than would have been the case under the old method of collections.

The key to everything, however, is the so-called "cash budget" which is the actual amount taken in, as compared with the actual amount spent, irrespective of the bookkeeping which must reflect appropriations made but not necessarily spent and other factors of that kind. The Eisenhower administration brought the cash budget in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1954, to a deficit of only $232 millions, and now it is estimated in the President's new message that there will be a cash surplus of $558 millions in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1956. This is the first cash surplus in a long, long while. The trend is indicative of the stability of soundness of the treasury's position compared to previous years.

Indictment Dismissed

Washington, Jan. 17 (AP)—The government announced today it is dismissing an indictment accusing Ray Brennan, Chicago Sun-Times reporter, of posing as a government employe to get secret testimony before the old Senate Crime Investigating Committee. William A. Paisley of the Justice Department told U. S. District Judge Bolitha J. Laws of the government's decision. Paisley said that the dismissal of the indictment was agreeable to all parties involved, including senators who served on the crime investigating committee.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Having established the fact that Orval Faubus was elected governor of Arkansas notwithstanding his attendance, at a Communist college known as Commonwealth, I report now the first reactions of the Arkansas Gazette, which supported Faubus nevertheless. The executive editor of the Gazette is Harry S. Ashmore. He arrived from North Carolina in 1948 and immediately threw in with Sidney I. McMath, of Hot Springs, whose wife had recently shot dead the father of her husband. Mrs. McMath was not charged with any violation of law.

Faubus joined the political organization which was taking shape and McMath became governor for two terms. Now Faubus is governor with McMath as his chief henchman. Ashmore is the principal agent of the machine in journalism and/or propaganda. Ashmore is the most influential journalist in Arkansas for several reasons. His paper is the biggest in the state and is to Arkansas as the Washington Post is to the national capital. It operates in the city where the executive, the Legislature, the state bureaucracy and the interlocking federal Fabian system are concentrated.

As editor of the Gazette, Ashmore wrote a propaganda book entitled "The Negro and the Schools." Ashmore's book is a pleading for "integration," a new word in the sense of an alternative to "segregation." It ignores well-known factors in the difficult problem of reconciling the conflicting interests.

In its editorial recognition of the issue of communism in southern politics, the Gazette said, editorially, that Pegler's "only support for this thesis was a characteristically distorted version of the commonwealth college story."

Pegler "repeatedly referred, without qualification, to Governor Faubus as a graduate of a Communist college."

I have canvassed my pieces and find nowhere that I wrote, even inadvertently, that Faubus was a "graduate." Far from it, I understand that no student at the Communist college ever was graduated. To be sure, a graduate is an alumnus, but an alumnus is not necessarily a graduate. So the Gazette was so hard up for some error on my part to relieve its own embarrassment that it was forced to create one. For that matter, this error, had I been guilty of the lapse, would be trifling. The significant truth in relation to Faubus, the Gazette and the new political machine in the southern tier created by eastern money and eastern agents, is the admitted fact that Faubus was a student leader at this Communist school which was closed as a subversive institution. The Gazette does not deny that.

At loss for material for its own comfort, the Gazette further charged that Pegler "attempted to tie the former governor (McMath) up with the late Huey Long, who was assassinated while McMath was still in college."

That is a deliberately false implication. I never suggested that McMath had ever laid eyes on Huey, still less that they had carried on political operations together. I wrote that the "common reputation which McMath has created by his deportment is reminiscent of the late Huey Long."

"To my independent observation of this resemblance," I wrote, "John F. Wells, publisher of a weekly independent political paper, the Recorder, replied:

"'Yes, McMath imitates Long. * * * * reporters noticed biographies of the Kingfish on his desk'" In the governor's office.

So the two principal points of complaint have failed. There is no truth in either contention and the glaring fact that the Gazette and Ashmore did and still do support an alumuns of a Communist college has not been challenged.

On one petty point of error, I plead guilty. I wrote that McMath was county prosecutor in Little Rock at the time his wife shot his father dead and was held blameless. That was a slip of the keyboard. He was county prosecutor in Hot Springs when his wife killed his father and went free. I knew that because it was in Hot Springs that I learned it and heard that the political opposition thereafter referred to Mrs. McMath as "Pistol Packin' Mama." The Gazette offers no other objection to this item of information new to most Americans except that it was bad taste on my part to perform my professional duty, to the embarrassment of the Arkansas Gazette, though, apparently of nobody else in the case.

OUR STAKE IN THE SUEZ CANAL

Most Americans, when they think about the Suez Canal, probably conceive of it as pretty much a British problem, since it has been pictured for so long as the "lifeline" of Britain's empire. But the fact is, the United States and all free peoples have a great stake in the canal.

In the decade since World War II ended, U. S. use of the canal has mounted more than tenfold. A very high percentage of this traffic is represented by the oil import trade which moves north through Suez from the islands of the Persian Gulf and other Middle Eastern points.

What would happen to this and other vital traffic if the canal were ever blocked off was symbolically illustrated recently when a vessel running this 104-mile course struck a steel structure and temporarily stopped the flow of ships.

Without the canal, all craft plying between India, the Middle East and the Atlantic ports of the Western Hemisphere, as well as all European destinations, would have to head around the southern tip of Africa.

The cost in time, miles and money would be tremendous, and in an acute moment of free world peril the delay could prove disastrous.

For example, a ship bound from a U. S. New England port to Karachi, India, would have to travel 3,500 miles farther, take two weeks longer and put out $28,000 more in making the passage.

Not too many people around the globe realize that the prized waterway which makes these important savings possible is actually run as a private enterprise, the Suez Canal Company. Both technically and financially, it has a performance record as one of the most efficient operations in modern business history.

Last year, for the 27th time, the company slashed toll charges. As traffic has climbed from 486 ships in 1870 towards 15,000 in 1954, operating economies have been passed on to the canal's users in the best free enterprise tradition.

Over the years, the company also has made many improvements, especially toward straightening, widening and deepening the channel which cuts a gash through the desert to link the Mediterranean and the Red Sea.

Fittingly for a roadway of international importance, the Suez is internationally owned and managed. Britain holds 44 per cent of the company's stock, but has only three of the 32 directors. The others represent Egypt, France, The Netherlands and the United States. The firm has an Egyptian charter, with headquarters in Paris and a Parisian director general.

In 1968, this prosperous business is scheduled to wind up its affairs, for then its 99-year concession from the Egyptian government runs out. Whatever happens then—a new concession, management by Egypt itself, or some other arrangement — the United States, Britain and other free powers will be deeply concerned that the Suez Canal not only be kept safe, but functioning as well as it has these 80-odd years.

HAPPY PARTNERSHIP

Webb and Knapp, one of the biggest realty firms in New York, if not in the country, is joining hands with the United States in trying to rebuild Korea. This firm has designed and is financing a large project which will enable Koreans to buy homes for about $5 a month.

The company will not do the construction work on the project, nor will it receive any financial return from it. The building will be done by Koreans, who also supplied native architects and engineers to work with their American counterparts in designing a minimum one-family house and apartment building adapted to Korea. Construction of the first project is now scheduled to start next May.

A happy partnership of private enterprise and government in carrying out a vital task is here shown. Together they are working to rebuild war-torn Korea, which all Asians are watching closely to see whether the Communists north of the truce line or the United States in the South takes the lead.

The governments and the realty people are working to teach the merits of free enterprise to the Koreans with action rather than words. In this housing project, private business is putting its weight behind the United States' drive against communism. More such joint ventures are needed in the never-ending struggle to stem communism and to eliminate distress wherever it exists.

THE TARIFF AGAIN

There are two ways of looking at President Eisenhower's tariff proposals which emanate from the Randall Commission:

One is that as we are going to give away some of our wealth to foreign countries anyhow, we might as well do it on an economic rather than an cleemosynary basis;

The other is that if all of the President's proposals go through, certain American industries, such as coal, electrical equipment, watches, wallboard, bicycles, ceramics, etc., etc., may have to be abandoned because they will be forced to compete in the American market with commodities that are made with cheaper labor, that can employ American capital which has a 14 percentage point benefit so far as income taxes are concerned, and that will come in at a reduced tariff.

The history of the tariff in the United States has, in the past, been principally the story of a conflict between manufactured goods and farm products, between the industrial East and the agricultural South and West. The American tariff was originally designed to protect our infant industries, which are no longer infants. In 1955, that is not the conflict. The differences of view are between the great units of production—Big Business, as it is called—and the small manufacturer.

Big Business is world-conscious. It not only hopes to sell universally, but it manufactures in many countries. Its capital is not only locally invested; it is invested in many countries Big business is accustomed for its units of productions to compete against other units of production within the same company as an Oldsmobile and a Buick compete against each other although both are owned and made by the same company; or as the British-made Ford competes against the American-made Ford not only in London but in New York. Big Business is not only politically internationalist but it is economically internationalist because that is the way it has been organized.

That is not true of the small manufacturer. He makes goods for a local market, whether that market is the United States or some region of the United States. He may or may not produce a superior product to one made elsewhere on the face of the Earth, but he employs American labor, pays taxes not only to the Federal Government but locally, and his price is geared to the American standard of living. If our smaller manufacturers are driven out of existence by faulty economic policies based on globalism rather than American interests, the social damage could be enormous.

Those who are doctrinaire about the free market to make the point that if such American manufacturers cannot compete with foreign goods, they ought to go out of business, as admission of their inefficiency. This position would undoubtedly have much virtue but when the Government subsidizes the export of American capital to manufacture competitive goods by a 14 percentage point differential, the advantage to the American manufacturing abroad with cheaper labor and cheaper costs all around is so great as to be non-competitive. It will be more efficient to manufacture in Canada than in the United States. A free market is only possible if there are no subsidies, no rebates, no economic tricks.

In this struggle, Big Business will, without doubt, win the immediate battle. It has utilized great persuasive forces to convince the American people that we ought to have a lower tariff, easier customs procedures, and now a rebate on taxes for investments abroad, a tax differential that benefits them tremendously. But this does not solve the social problem of unemployment in the United States and that will have to be solved because the unemployed vote in elections as well as the employed do, and their votes count for as much. In such a state as West Virginia where residual oil is knocking down the coal industry or in certain areas of the Southwest where lead and zinc are suffering the consequences of low tariffs, unemployment can develop into a major political issue as it already is a social problem.

The present tariff proposals are the most radical in our history. They have been discussed for years, but neither President Roosevelt nor President Truman—both low tariff men—dared politically to grant a subsidy for the export of capital. That has now been done and is before Congress for decision.

That Body of Yours

PREVENTION OF CHILDHOOD ACCIDENTS

A most challenging and interesting article appeared in the Journal of the American Medical Association entitled "Prevention of Childhood Accidents—What are we waiting for?" In this article the author, Dr. Harry F. Dietrich, University of California, points out that the death rates in children from the previously fearsome and fatal diseases such as diphtheria, typhoid, dysentery has dropped so rapidly that each year the accident death rate has accounted for a higher percentage of all childhood deaths.

"The control of grave infections has been the aim of medicine for years. Now we are faced with a new and temporarily disgraceful challenge — accidents today kill one-third of the children who die each year, instead of 1/20 of the year's toll as in 1900. These deaths are principally due to burns, drowning, poisoning, falls, crushing, and automobile accidents. There is the problem."

Just as there are "vaccines" to protect against typhoid, smallpox, and many other diseases, so Dr. Dietrich suggests a "vaccine" for accident prevention as follows: "Up to the age of 12 to 18 months, the infant needs complete protection from all accident hazards. If he is burned, drowned, crushed, poisoned or mangled, he has been denied that protection. Passing over several years, consider the child's situation at the age of 5 or 6 years when school and play take him away from the protection of the home. His safety depends now largely on what he has learned at home. Whether or not he dashes blindly into the street, stumbles into a water-filled quarry, ignites a pile of rubbish, loses his arm in some machinery, or drinks from a bottle of paint thinner depends on what his parents have taught him between the ages of 1 and 5. It must be apparent that after the age of one, protection must gradually be replaced by education; parents must begin to teach the child how to live safely with, rather than without fire, water, machinery, electricity, chemicals, etc. Accident prevention in the home requires three tools: foresight, time and discipline."

Friend or Enemy, It's Usually Up to the Wrangler

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—The optimistic view in the U. S. State Department is that French Assembly approval of the London and Paris agreements to rearm Western Germany solves the most pressing problem in Europe.

The more pessimistic view is that French Assembly action really solved nothing. Far from being the end of the story, this is merely the beginning. And there is trouble ahead.

In France itself, the Council of the Republic—corresponding to the U. S. Senate—has to approve the action of the Assembly—which corresponds to the U. S. House of Representatives.

Ratification by the Council has been taken for granted. But if the Council makes even minor amendments to the act of ratification, it will have to go back to the Assembly.

In this reconsideration by the Assembly, the slim 27-vote majority by which Premier Mendes-France obtained his vote of confidence on the issue, might disappear. The fact that some 80 deputies did not vote in the 287 to 260 approval is a further indication of the weakness of this situation.

IF FRANCE SHOULD finally fail to accept the London and Paris agreements, the political stability of Germany might become unstuck.

The German chancellor, Dr. Konrad Adenauer, has had to use practically all the good will he has commanded to carry the West German Republic along with his policy of Western European alliances. He has admittedly lost strength in the last few months.

There are now some doubts as to whether West Germany itself will ratify the London and Paris agreements, even though they might make the Germans the strongest people in Europe.

The factor overlooked in this situation is that there exists in Germany today a great distrust of remilitarization. This represents a complete change in German public opinion.

There is no question about the ability of Germany to raise and equip a 12-division, 500,000-man army. There is some question as to whether this new force would be popular.

EVEN CHANCELLOR ADENAUER HIMSELF is said to be hipped on his opposition to recreation of a war ministry and general staff that might again take over control of German government.

And so, the pessimistic appraisal of the European situation today is that Germany might conceivably never be rearmed, or that it might not be rearmed for a long time to come.

Coupled with this fear of recreating German military might —a fear that exists in France even more than in Germany— there is a strong desire in both countries to hold still another conference with the Russians before Germany is rearmed.

The German Socialists seem to feel that such talks might somehow further unification of East and West Germany. Premier Mendes-France seems to feel that he is cunning enough to negotiate more favorable living conditions with the Russians. Just what these conditions might be, he has never stated.

What this combination of circumstances adds up to is a belief that the coming weeks will see increasing pressure on the United States and the United Kingdom to agree to new talks with the Russians before Germany is rearmed.

This is where trouble lies for the United States.

IT IS NOW RECOGNIZED IN Washington that the French may have originally put forward their European Defense Community proposals as a stalling device to delay U. S. insistence on German rearmament.

Premier Mendes - France scrapped the EDC plan as an interference with his own ideas for first strengthening the domestic economy of France. The alternative which he accepted in the London and Paris agreements will be a godsend—if these agreements can be ratified by France and Germany.

If they cannot, there is trouble aplenty ahead for the United States and its Western European allies in finding a second alternative. It is admitted this must somehow involve the ultimate rearming of Western Germany. Without that, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization becomes a flimflam and its Western European defense plans are made inoperable.

What else this third plan might encompass, no one can now say. It would have to be hammered out in another Western European conference of completely unpredictable results.

Forecast Deficit Is Considered to Be Unrealistic for Fiscal Year

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Jan. 18—Has the Eisenhower administration learned a trick or two from the Roosevelt and Truman regimes —how to forecast a big deficit and then wind up with a much smaller one and make everybody feel there has been a great achievement on the fiscal front?

It begins to look that way as the President's message on financial affairs forecasts a deficit of $2.4 billions for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1955, which will wind up just about the time the presidential campaign begins in July 1956.

What makes the estimate of such a deficit unrealistic is the fact that everybody says business is beginning to boom and that we are in for an era of higher and higher national incomes in the next several years. The year-end forecasts were rosier than they have been in a long time. Yet the treasury solemnly predicts in the new budget that receipts from corporate taxes in fiscal 1956 will be less than either 1954 or 1955 and that individual income-tax receipts will not increase at all over 1954 in the fiscal year beginning next July.

But with reports coming in from all over the country about an increase in employment and a lengthening of the work week through overtime, and hence a bigger net to the wage earner after taxes, it is difficult to be as pessimistic as the treasury is on the matter of income-tax receipts.

It is to be noted that there will be another budget message presented to Congress in January, 1956, forecasting the outlook for the new fiscal year, and it will not be surprising if Mr. Eisenhower is able to say then that, inasmuch as the first six months of the fiscal year 1956 have passed, there are clear indications the budget will be in balance, after all, by June 30, 1956. It would be very important politically if the President is able to say something of that sort as the opening gun in the Republican campaign.

But as previous administrations have learned, it's better to be conservative in estimating receipts than to be rather liberal in forecasting what expenditures will be. One psychological advantage of such tactics is supposed to be the application of some degree of restraint on the spenders in Congress, to keep appropriations from going higher.

A look at the predictions of Democratic Presidents in the last 20 years shows a constant over-estimating of the annual deficit. Mr. Truman, for example, in his message to Congress forecasting the probable outcome of the fiscal year 1952, estimated a deficit of $16.5 billions, and the year wound up actually with a deficit of only one-fourth of that amount. This was a 75 per cent mistake. The next year Mr. Truman estimated a deficit of $14.4 billions and the actual result was just about $5 billions less.

What seemed most puzzling was Mr. Truman's estimate offered in January 1953—just before the Eisenhower administration took over—of a 1954 deficit of $9.9 billions, which turned out on June 30, 1954, to be only $3.1 billions. The Eisenhower administration's own first forecast made in January 1954 of $3.3 billions came much closer.

There are, of course, some technical explanations for the variations in receipts. Thus, for instance, a tax reduction was granted last year and hence new receipts must be developed to offset that loss. Also, the system of paying corporation taxes has been gradually moved up to a pay-as-you-go basis, so that in the next year or so there is bound to be less income in a particular fiscal year than would have been the case under the old method of collections.

The key to everything, however, is the so-called "cash budget" which is the actual amount taken in, as compared with the actual amount spent, irrespective of the bookkeeping which must reflect appropriations made but not necessarily spent and other factors of that kind. The Eisenhower administration brought the cash budget in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1954, to a deficit of only $232 millions, and now it is estimated in the President's new message that there will be a cash surplus of $558 millions in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1956. This is the first cash surplus in a long, long while. The trend is indicative of the stability of soundness of the treasury's position compared to previous years.

Indictment Dismissed

Washington, Jan. 17 (AP)—The government announced today it is dismissing an indictment accusing Ray Brennan, Chicago Sun-Times reporter, of posing as a government employe to get secret testimony before the old Senate Crime Investigating Committee. AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Having established the fact that Orval Faubus was elected governor of Arkansas notwithstanding his attendance, at a Communist college known as Commonwealth, I report now the first reactions of the Arkansas Gazette, which supported Faubus nevertheless. The executive editor of the Gazette is Harry S. Ashmore. He arrived from North Carolina in 1948 and immediately threw in with Sidney I. McMath, of Hot Springs, whose wife had recently shot dead the father of her husband. Mrs. McMath was not charged with any violation of law.

Faubus joined the political organization which was taking shape and McMath became governor for two terms. Now Faubus is governor with McMath as his chief henchman. Ashmore is the principal agent of the machine in journalism and/or propaganda. Ashmore is the most influential journalist in Arkansas for several reasons. His paper is the biggest in the state and is to Arkansas as the Washington Post is to the national capital. It operates in the city where the executive, the Legislature, the state bureaucracy and the interlocking federal Fabian system are concentrated.

As editor of the Gazette, Ashmore wrote a propaganda book entitled "The Negro and the Schools." Ashmore's book is a pleading for "integration," a new word in the sense of an alternative to "segregation." It ignores well-known factors in the difficult problem of reconciling the conflicting interests.

In its editorial recognition of the issue of communism in southern politics, the Gazette said, editorially, that Pegler's "only support for this thesis was a characteristically distorted version of the commonwealth college story."

Pegler "repeatedly referred, without qualification, to Governor Faubus as a graduate of a Communist college."

I have canvassed my pieces and find nowhere that I wrote, even inadvertently, that Faubus was a "graduate." Far from it, I understand that no student at the Communist college ever was graduated. To be sure, a graduate is an alumnus, but an alumnus is not necessarily a graduate. So the Gazette was so hard up for some error on my part to relieve its own embarrassment that it was forced to create one. For that matter, this error, had I been guilty of the lapse, would be trifling. The significant truth in relation to Faubus, the Gazette and the new political machine in the southern tier created by eastern money and eastern agents, is the admitted fact that Faubus was a student leader at this Communist school which was closed as a subversive institution. The Gazette does not deny that.

At loss for material for its own comfort, the Gazette further charged that Pegler "attempted to tie the former governor (McMath) up with the late Huey Long, who was assassinated while McMath was still in college."

That is a deliberately false implication. I never suggested that McMath had ever laid eyes on Huey, still less that they had carried on political operations together. I wrote that the "common reputation which McMath has created by his deportment is reminiscent of the late Huey Long."

"To my independent observation of this resemblance," wrote, "John F. Wells, publisher of a weekly independent political paper, the Recorder, replied:

"'Yes, McMath imitates Long * * * * reporters noticed biographies of the Kingfish on his desk'" In the governor's office.

So the two principal points of complaint have failed. There is no truth in either contention and the glaring fact that the Gazette and Ashmore did and still do support an alumuns of a Communist college has not been challenged.

On one petty point of error, I plead guilty. I wrote that McMath was county prosecutor in Little Rock at the time his wife shot his father dead and was held blameless. That was a slip of the keyboard. He was county prosecutor in Hot Springs when his wife killed his father and went free. I knew that because it was in Hot Springs that I learned it and heard that the political opposition thereafter referred to Mrs. McMath as "Pistol Packin' Mama." The Gazette offers no other objection to this item of information new to most Americans except that it was bad taste on my part to perform my professional duty to the embarrassment of the Arkansas Gazette, though, apparently of nobody else in the case.

Bills in Legislature

Albany, Jan. 18 (AP)—A bill before the Legislature would establish a minimum annual salary of $4,000 for school teachers throughout the state.

The measure, introduced last night by Republican Assemblyman William E. Brady of Greene county, is in line with recent wage recommendations of the New York State Teachers Assn.

Besides the minimum salary, it proposes annual increases of $500 for each year of experience up to 10, and additional amounts for teachers with graduate study credits.

OTHER MEASURES proposed last night would:

Authorize new state income tax deductions for farmers and tenant stockholders of cooperative housing projects, and increase deductions for medical expenses.

Increase the number of college scholarships awarded by the state each year.

Reduce violations of traffic regulations on the State Thruway from misdemeanors to offenses.

Brady's bill would require every school district in the state to adopt a salary scale for teachers that would provide at least $4,000 a year for beginners. Each subsequent year, the teachers would receive a $500 raise, until their salaries reached

THE LEADERS of the Republican majority in the Legislature have promised to study teacher wage scales with a view toward legislating increases. The current minimums required by state law range from $2,500 to $4,600.

Sen. Walter G. McGahan, Republican from Flushing, offered four bills on income tax deductions.

One would allow farmers to deduct expenses for soil and water conservation up to 25 per cent of their gross farming income. Assemblyman Anthony P. Savarese Jr., Queens Republican, introduced a similar measure.

Another McGahan bill would permit tenant stockholders of cooperative housing corporations to deduct from their personal income taxes amounts representing their share of real estate taxes of the property.

A THIRD MEASURE would allow taxpayers to deduct medical expenses in excess of three percent of net income, instead of those over five per cent, as specified by the current tax law.

McGahan proposed also that taxpayers be allowed to share in deductions for a dependent, each according to the percentage of support contributed.

Sen. Earl W. Brydges, Niagara Falls Republican, tossed in the measure on scholarships. They would continue 1,200 state war service scholarships for veterans, increase from 100 to 200 the number of scholarships awarded annually to children of deceased veterans and raise from five to 20 the number provided to counties each year.

THE THRUWAY BILLS, sponsored by Republican Sen. Stanley Bauer of Erie county and Democratic Assemblyman Frank Rossetti of Manhattan, are not the first to be introduced on the subject.

The new measures would reduce general violations of traffic regulations on the superhighway from a misdemeanor—a crime—to an offense. These would include speeding, which is an offense on most other roads in the state, under the state traffic code.

Legislation introduced earlier would reduce thruway speeding to the status of an offense, but continue other traffic violations in the misdemeanor class.

The Thruway Authority said yesterday it would support legislation to remove the misdemeanor tag from speeding and other infractions.

A measure proposed by Assemblyman Fred W. Preller (R.-Queens) would designate Good Friday as a state holiday.

Phoenicia, Jan. 17—Post 950, American Legion, held its regular meeting January 11 at the Central Hotel. Luncheon was served by the women's auxiliary. A folding wheelchair was presented by the auxiliary to the Town of Shandaken Nursing Committee for its loan closet. The next meeting of the auxiliary will be held Feb. 8.

Bills in Legislature

Albany, Jan. 18 (AP)—A bill before the Legislature would establish a minimum annual salary of $4,000 for school teachers throughout the state.

The measure, introduced last night by Republican Assemblyman William E. Brady of Greene county, is in line with recent wage recommendations of the New York State Teachers Assn.

Besides the minimum salary, it proposes annual increases of $500 for each year of experience up to 10, and additional amounts for teachers with graduate study credits.

OTHER MEASURES proposed last night would:

Authorize new state income tax deductions for farmers and tenant stockholders of cooperative housing projects, and increase deductions for medical expenses.

Increase the number of college scholarships awarded by the state each year.

Reduce violations of traffic regulations on the State Thruway from misdemeanors to offenses.

Brady's bill would require every school district in the state to adopt a salary scale for teachers that would provide at least $4,000 a year for beginners. Each subsequent year, the teachers would receive a $500 raise, until their salaries reached

THE LEADERS of the Republican majority in the Legislature have promised to study teacher wage scales with a view toward legislating increases. The current minimums required by state law range from $2,500 to $4,600.

Sen. Walter G. McGahan, Republican from Flushing, offered four bills on income tax deductions.

One would allow farmers to deduct expenses for soil and water conservation up to 25 per cent of their gross farming income. Assemblyman Anthony P. Savarese Jr., Queens Republican, introduced a similar measure.

Another McGahan bill would permit tenant stockholders of cooperative housing corporations to deduct from their personal income taxes amounts representing their share of real estate taxes of the property.

A THIRD MEASURE would allow taxpayers to deduct medical expenses in excess of three percent of net income, instead of those over five per cent, as specified by the current tax law.

McGahan proposed also that taxpayers be allowed to share in deductions for a dependent, each according to the percentage of support contributed.

Sen. Earl W. Brydges, Niagara Falls Republican, tossed in the measure on scholarships. Saugerties, Jan. 17 — The Youth Activities Committee of the Saugerties Youth Council announced that ice hockey will be forbidden on the Youth Council rink located adjacent to Cantine Memorial Park on Main street Saturday afternoons and all day Sundays beginning this week.

The ruling was necessary due to the predominance of the hockey players which jeopardized the small children using the facility. To avoid the possibility of an injury to some youngster from a flying puck or hockey stick the players interested in hockey were asked to cooperate voluntarily with the ruling.

A spokesman for the committee said that a great many youngsters and adults have been using the rink in the past few days while the weather has been cooperative and the committee hoped that violations of the ruling would not necessitate further action for enforcement.

Arrangements have been made to add lighting to the rink and should be in full operation this week. The lights will be turned off each night at 10 p. m.

Volunteer First Aid, Ambulance Planned for State

A New York State Volunteer Ambulance and First Aid Association is in process of formation, it has been announced.

The association, patterned on the New Jersey organization, has as its prime function the transportation of sick and injured to any part of the state by trained first aiders and ambulances. A mobilization plan has been worked out so that neighbor corps can travel to a stricken area in the event of major disaster. Ambulances and trained crews would arrive, others would be alerted to cover sections without service.

In conjunction with the American Automobile Association the volunteers have developed a plan by which the corps would be covered for repairs and gasoline shortages while on call.

IT WAS POINTED out that with the opening of the new Thruway and other highways there would be an increased demand for the volunteers.

The association will present the third in a series of lectures at the Ramapo Ambulance Center this Thursday. Speakers will be Dr. A. J. Maged and Dr. J. Garnant on the topic of pediatrics.

William Charters of Stony Point, president of the association, said in a recent interview that wide interest had been shown in earlier lectures, with a gratifying number of police and civilian workers attending. Additional drills in connection with the mobilizaton plan will be announced, he said.

Ice Hockey Banned At Rink on Weekends

Saugerties, Jan. 17 — The Youth Activities Committee of the Saugerties Youth Council announced that ice hockey will be forbidden on the Youth Council rink located adjacent to Cantine Memorial Park on Main street Saturday afternoons and all day Sundays beginning this week.

The ruling was necessary due to the predominance of the hockey players which jeopardized the small children using the facility. To avoid the possibility of an injury to some youngster from a flying puck or hockey stick the players interested in hockey were asked to cooperate voluntarily with the ruling.

A spokesman for the committee said that a great many youngsters and adults have been using the rink in the past few days while the weather has been cooperative and the committee hoped that violations of the ruling would not necessitate further action for enforcement.

Arrangements have been made to add lighting to the rink and should be in full operation this week. The lights will be turned off each night at 10 p. m.

The Chamber of Commerce sponsored community skating party will be held here on Saturday, Jan. 22, starting at 7:30 p. m.

Davis, March of Dimes chairman for the town of Saugerties, said the second event of the campaign would be the Mother's March on Polio to be conducted by the women's auxiliary of Lamouree-Hackett Post 72, American Legion, on Wednesday, Jan. 26. Volunteer First Aid, Ambulance Planned for State

A New York State Volunteer Ambulance and First Aid Association is in process of formation, it has been announced.

The association, patterned on the New Jersey organization, has as its prime function the transportation of sick and injured to any part of the state by trained first aiders and ambulances. A mobilization plan has been worked out so that neighbor corps can travel to a stricken area in the event of major disaster. Ambulances and trained crews would arrive, others would be alerted to cover sections without service.

In conjunction with the American Automobile Association the volunteers have developed a plan by which the corps would be covered for repairs and gasoline shortages while on call.

IT WAS POINTED out that with the opening of the new Thruway and other highways there would be an increased demand for the volunteers.

The association will present the third in a series of lectures at the Ramapo Ambulance Center this Thursday. Speakers will be Dr. A. J. Maged and Dr. J. Garnant on the topic of pediatrics.

William Charters of Stony Point, president of the association, said in a recent interview that wide interest had been shown in earlier lectures, with a gratifying number of police and civilian workers attending. Additional drills in connection with the mobilizaton plan will be announced, he said.

USAF Unveils Revolutionary Plan for 'Supply Pipe Line'

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—An all-out drive by the Air Force to create a military "supply pipeline of the air" could start another revolution in American aviation.

It could speed up general use of commercial jet airliners by many years. It would be a huge boost to the already fast-growing commercial air cargo business.

And it would mean an additional multi-million dollars worth of new business to the aircraft industry.

Now that the nation accepts giant bombers as the key to America's offense and a fighter aircraft force as its first line of defense, the Air Force believes it's time to sell the country on the cargo plane for logistics.

However, the whole concept contains controversial elements which will stir plenty of arguments in Congress and in the Pentagon.

It's bound to inflame the Navy. Flying supplies over oceans tends to put the admirals out of business. Proponents of this expanded air logistics plan talk of moving everything overseas by plane except the bulkiest equipment and petroleum products.

"And if you plan right you can stock enough petroleum and big stuff at our bases overseas to last through the next war," an AF expert claims.

Air Force Secretary Harold Talbott says, "The decisive phase of a future general war could be in the first 30 to 60 days, and I cannot conceive of placing total reliance on surface transportation during that time."

ASSUMPTION THAT THE next war will be a short one is already a subject of hot debate in the Pentagon.

At the big Air Force Association Air Logistics Conference, where the program was launched, Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. Nathan F. Twining revealed that a start has already been made on it.

"Our immediate objective is to increase Air Force airlift capability by 50 per cent in the next three to five years," he said. "In the succeeding five years, our goal is double or triple our present capability."

Probably the most disupted part of a big aerial pipeline is its cost. Talbott's argument is:

"The time of the engine overhaul cycle will be reduced from 270 days now required by surface transportation to 100 days by air. This means a 25 per cent reduction in engine requirements and adds up to hundreds of millions when we know that a single engine can cost up to $78,000."

DR. GEORGE P. BAKER, a Harvard University transportation expert, explains how the idea could effect further major savings.

"Overseas supply officers would need only about 20 per cent of the inventory they now keep. They would get parts from the U.S. in three to four days. And central stockage in the U.S. would be controlled by a single point."

Dr. Baker also says that not having to package all items to withstand handling aboard ship and long storge periods would make a 15 per cent saving in wegiht of items sent abroad.

Despite these savings, Dr. Baker admits that the price per ton to move equipment from the east coast to Europe under the proposed plan would be $281, as compared with $122 for present sea transportation. At present it costs $2,644 per ton for shipment between those points by air.

Those are costs for peace-time operations. Air Force experts point out that you can't put a price-tag on fast logistics during a war. And Gen. Twining adds an argument on the tactical side:

"MODERN WEAPONS constitute a greater threat to surface transportation systems than to air systems. This is particularly true when you consider our massive port installations and the long transit time of surface movement, with its longer exposure to enemy attack."

Proponents of the plan are talking of a new type aircraft which could carry the load of 20 current four-motored planes. It would weigh 200 tons, carry 100,000 pounds of cargo, fly 3,500 miles without refuelling and have a speed of 500 miles per hour.

The Douglas aircraft firm has built a C-123, which is still a secret as far as its details and performance go, but which is reported to be a major step ahead in the air cargo field.

Washington, Jan. 17 (AP)—Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D.-S. C.) says the State Department has found none of 80 employes once named by Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.) to be Communist or "disloyal to our government." The report on investigations prompted by McCarthy's 150 charges "should clear up this matter for all time," Johnston said.

Analysis Parley For Dairymen Is Set for Thursday

A farm business analysis meeting for dairymen will be held Thursday at 1 p. m. at the Valley National Bank in Wallkill.

An actual farm cost and income study will be used to show total farm income and total expenses, according to Robert D. Guzewich, associate county agricultural agent. These figures will be compared with other farms throughout the state as indicated on the "Farm Business Chart."

GUZEWICH EXPLAINED that the continued cost-price squeeze in farming makes it imperative for farmers to study their business from the efficiency standpoint, including such points as pounds of milk sold per cow, work units per man, pounds of milk sold per man, hay yield, silage yield, percentage of milk receipts used for purchasing feed.

The use of farm cash account and farm inventory books will be discussed.

In urging farmers to attend the meeting, Guzewich said, "The ladies are cordially invited to the meeting, too. They are equally interested in the efficiency of your farm business operation and many farm wives do the bookkeeping on farms today."

Increase Asked For VA Program

Washington, Jan. 17 (AP)—Appropriations totalling $4,452,370,000 for the Veterans Administration (VA) were proposed today by President Eisenhower, who estimated the agency would spend $4,487,703,141 in the year starting July 1.

The President estimated that net expenditures by the government on all its veterans' programs would be about $4,600,000,000, or some 200 million dollars more than this year. The proposed spending includes some money voted by Congress in previous years.

The VA this year has appropriations of $3,799,652,800. In 1953-54 it got $4,198,737,264.

The President said in his budget message that costs of VA programs "are now rising—reversing the decline from the peak in 1947 as World War 2 veterans completed their readjustment to civilian life."

PRIMARY FACTORS in the increase, he said, are the increase in the veterans' population to some 21 million, the fact that three million World War 1 veterans are reaching the age of 65 and qualifying for pensions in large numbers, and increases in benefits both in scope and liberality.

Asserting that pension and compensation laws need "constructive reconsideration," the President announced he is appointing a commission to study their entire structure and philosophy. He proposed $300,000 to finance the study.

There's No Quarrel With Real Success

Today's remarkable hand was played by Dick Kaplan, of Asheville, N. C., one of the fine younger players of the Southeast. I find myself starting in some surprise at Dick's jump bid of three hearts, which I consider an overbid, but I am not one to quarrel with success.

It got Dick to an unsound but very interesting contract which he proceeded to make by very fine play.

West opened the three of spades, and Kaplan naturally won immediately with dummy's ace. His next step was to lead the king of clubs from dummy in order to knock out the ace. East stepped up, properly enough, with the ace of clubs and led the king of spades to make declarer ruff.

Having arrived in his hand, South led a trump towards dummy. West properly played low since he expected to win two trump tricks after dummy had taken the ace and the jack. Declarer naturally finessed dummy's jack of hearts, and East followed suit with the ten.

The ten of hearts was a very revealing card. It seemed unlikely that East would be falsecarding with so important a card, so Kaplan decided to "believe" it.

The count of losing tricks was now: one club already lost, two probable trump losers, and one probable diamond loser. This counted up to one trick more than South could afford to lose.

After some thought, Kaplan cashed dummy's queen of clubs, ruffed another spade, cashed the jack of clubs, discarding dummy' last spade, and then led out the two top diamonds and a low diamond.

When the third diamond was led, East naturally played the queen. West couldn't afford to ruff, since then he would surely make only one of his trump honors; so West had to discard his last club and let East hold the trick.

At this stage all hands were reduced to three cards. East had two spades and a club. South and West each had three trumps. Dummy had two diamonds and the ace of trumps. When East led one of his black cards, South played the seven of trumps, and West was caught in a "smother" play.

If he overruffed, dummy would win with the ace of trumps; and if West ruffed low, South's seven of trumps would hold the trick. In either case, West could win only one trump trick and could not defeat the contract.

Cub Packs Guests On Railroad Tour

The New York Central Railroad gave a boost to the Cub Scout theme of the month, Railroading, Saturday when Cub Packs 7 and 19 were entertained on an official tour of railroad facilities in Kingston.

Through arrangements made by Trainmaster Stephen J. Keating, the Cub Scouts of the two local Packs were given a tour of the engine house, a ride on the turntable, and then had the thrill of "riding a real engine" up and down tracks in the North Yards.

The Cubs were also introduced to the operation of the switch tower where they were allowed to push and pull on the large levers controlling the switches and watch the signals move according to the position of the switches.

At the conclusion of the tour New York Central officials presented each Cub Scout with two comic-type booklets on the history of railroading in the United States and the services rendered by the railroads to the nation.

Cub Pack 7 is sponsored by St. John's Episcopal Church on Albany avenue, while Cub Pack 19 is sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 1386 of Kingston.

Old Sailor's Beef Stew Is Tender in 90 Minutes

OLD SAILOR'S BEEF STEW, Swedish style, is tasty and satisfying on cold day.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Many years ago Swedish sailors had a beef stew worthy of attention. The succulent dish was simple to prepare. A chunk of beef was sliced thin and browned in fat. Onions and potatoes were added, also a good measure of spices. The whole simmered long hours over the glowing coals. Those sailors were in no hurry. While the pot brewed, tales were told as the aroma of the stew mingled with the scent of the smoke of the fire.

Ann Williams-Heller, a noted European food expert, now an American citizen, picked up the sea-going recipe on her many travels. The original recipe took hours to cook. But Miss William-Heller, home economics consultant for Farberware Co., has cut the time to 90 minutes using the original ingredients. To do this she uses a Dutch oven of stainless steel with aluminum clad bottom and light fitting cover.

Old Sailor's Beef Stew
(Serves 4 to 6)

Have butcher cut 2 pounds beef (chuck or round) in ½-inch slices. Wipe meat with damp cloth; pound well. Melt 2 tablespoons butter or margarine in 5-quart Dutch oven; brown meat on all sides (about 10 minutes). Meanwhile, blend 1 tablespoon salt with 1 small (crushed) bay leaf, ¼ teaspoon each of white and black pepper, ⅛ teaspoon each of marjoram, red paprika, ground allspice and nutmeg. Slice 2 pounds peeled potatoes in ½-inch slices. Slice 1½ pounds onions.

Place potatoes and onions in alternate layers over meat, sprinkling each layer with spice mixture. Barely cover with boiling water or soup stock (about ¾ cup). Simmer—dome-covered—over very low heat for 1¼ hours or until meat is tender. Sprinkle with chopped parsley before serving directly from cooker.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Old sailor's beef stew, quick-cooked green cabbage, seeded crusty rolls, butter or margarine, deep-dish apple pie, cheese, coffee, tea, milk.

It got Dick to an unsound but very interesting contract which he proceeded to make by very fine play.

West opened the three of spades, and Kaplan naturally won immediately with dummy's ace. His next step was to lead the king of clubs from dummy in order to knock out the ace. East stepped up, properly enough, with the ace of clubs and led the king of spades to make declarer ruff.

Having arrived in his hand, South led a trump towards dummy. West properly played low since he expected to win two trump tricks after dummy had taken the ace and the jack. Declarer naturally finessed dummy's jack of hearts, and East followed suit with the ten.

The ten of hearts was a very revealing card. It seemed unlikely that East would be falsecarding with so important a card, so Kaplan decided to "believe" it.

The count of losing tricks was now: one club already lost, two probable trump losers, and one probable diamond loser. This counted up to one trick more than South could afford to lose.

After some thought, Kaplan cashed dummy's queen of clubs, ruffed another spade, cashed the jack of clubs, discarding dummy' last spade, and then led out the two top diamonds and a low diamond.

When the third diamond was led, East naturally played the queen. West couldn't afford to ruff, since then he would surely make only one of his trump honors; so West had to discard his last club and let East hold the trick.

At this stage all hands were reduced to three cards. East had two spades and a club. South and West each had three trumps. Dummy had two diamonds and the ace of trumps. When East led one of his black cards, South played the seven of trumps, and West was caught in a "smother" play.

If he overruffed, dummy would win with the ace of trumps; and if West ruffed low, South's seven of trumps would hold the trick. In either case, West could win only one trump trick and could not defeat the contract.

Cub Packs Guests On Railroad Tour

The New York Central Railroad gave a boost to the Cub Scout theme of the month, Railroading, Saturday when Cub Packs 7 and 19 were entertained on an official tour of railroad facilities in Kingston.

Through arrangements made by Trainmaster Stephen J. Keating, the Cub Scouts of the two local Packs were given a tour of the engine house, a ride on the turntable, and then had the thrill of "riding a real engine" up and down tracks in the North Yards.

The Cubs were also introduced to the operation of the switch tower where they were allowed to push and pull on the large levers controlling the switches and watch the signals move according to the position of the switches.

At the conclusion of the tour New York Central officials presented each Cub Scout with two comic-type booklets on the history of railroading in the United States and the services rendered by the railroads to the nation.

Cub Pack 7 is sponsored by St. John's Episcopal Church on Albany avenue, while Cub Pack 19 is sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 1386 of Kingston.

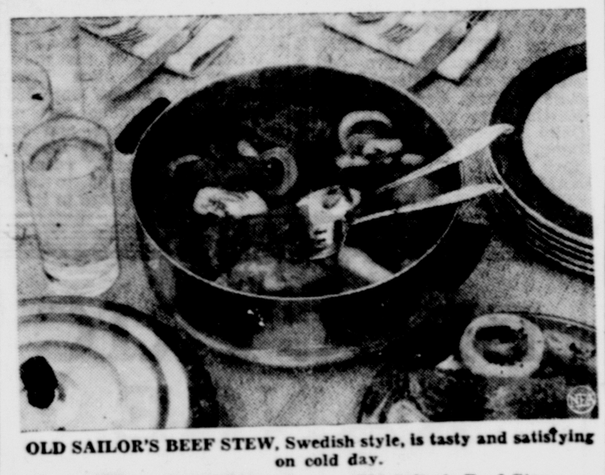
AMERICAN MENU

Old Sailor's Beef Stew Is Tender in 90 Minutes



OLD SAILOR'S BEEF STEW, Swedish style, is tasty and satisfying on cold day.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Food and Markets Editor

Many years ago Swedish sailors had a beef stew worthy of attention. The succulent dish was simple to prepare. A chunk of beef was sliced thin and browned in fat. Onions and potatoes were added, also a good measure of spices. The whole simmered long hours over the glowing coals. Those sailors were in no hurry. While the pot brewed, tales were told as the aroma of the stew mingled with the scent of the smoke of the fire.

Ann Williams-Heller, a noted European food expert, now an American citizen, picked up the sea-going recipe on her many travels. The original recipe took hours to cook. But Miss William-Heller, home economics consultant for Farberware Co., has cut the time to 90 minutes using the original ingredients. To do this she uses a Dutch oven of stainless steel with aluminum clad bottom and light fitting cover.

Old Sailor's Beef Stew
(Serves 4 to 6)

Have butcher cut 2 pounds beef (chuck or round) in ½-inch slices. Wipe meat with damp cloth; pound well. Melt 2 tablespoons butter or margarine in 5-quart Dutch oven; brown meat on all sides (about 10 minutes). Meanwhile, blend 1 tablespoon salt with 1 small (crushed) bay leaf, ¼ teaspoon each of white and black pepper, ⅛ teaspoon each of marjoram, red paprika, ground allspice and nutmeg. Slice 2 pounds peeled potatoes in ½-inch slices. Slice 1½ pounds onions.

Place potatoes and onions in alternate layers over meat, sprinkling each layer with spice mixture. Barely cover with boiling water or soup stock (about ¾ cup). Simmer—dome-covered—over very low heat for 1¼ hours or until meat is tender. Sprinkle with chopped parsley before serving directly from cooker.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Old sailor's beef stew, quick-cooked green cabbage, seeded crusty rolls, butter or margarine, deep-dish apple pie, cheese, coffee, tea, milk.

ANSWERING THE TACTLESS

A reader asks: "Will you please tell me what I can say, without being rude, when someone asks me a question that I would prefer not to answer?"

Pay no attention to the question and try to change the subject by calling the questioner's attention to something else. Or to someone who is persistent, simply answer, "I'm sorry but that is something I would rather not talk about."

Announcing New Wedding Date

Dear Mrs. Post: Due to the sudden ilness of my fiance, our wedding had to be postponed. The invitations had been sent out and replies received. We are now planning to marry in a month and I would like to know how to notify the guests of this. Is there a special form to send out re-announcing the new date, or should new wedding invitations be made up. Also, should these be sent only to those who accepted the first invitation, or are they sent to those who declined as well. Please let me hear from you.

Answer: The following form would be sent out:

Mr. and Mrs. John Jones
announce that the marriage of their daughter
Mary Elizabeth
to
Mr. Henry Worthington
which had been postponed
will now take place on Saturday, the twelfth of February
at four o'clock

This should be sent to all who received the original invitations whether they accepted or not, because many of those who regretted may now be able to come.

Order of Service at Family Dinner

Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to know which member of the family should be served first at a family dinner table when the mother is serving—the father or daughters aged nineteen and sixteen?

Answer: It is not very important who is served first at a family table but most often, she would help father first.

Mrs. Madeline M. Comstock of this city has returned from New York where she completed a course of training preparing her for the position of Welcome Wagon Hostess which she now holds in this community.

Mrs. Comstock, who resides at 317 Lucas avenue, is one of Welcome Wagon's more than 4,000 hostesses who are making more than a million calls annually on families in the United States, Hawaii and in the Provinces of Canada, embracing more than 1,290 cities.

These calls on behalf of Welcome Wagon's more than 40,000 sponsors are made on such important family occasions as the birth of a baby, 16th birthdays, engagement announcements; also when families move locally in a community and when they arrive in a community as new residents. Calls are also made on special occasions such as golden wedding anniversaries and other special family events.

Thomas W. Briggs, formerly of Memphis, Tenn., is founder and president of Welcome Wagon, which is now in its 27th year.

OFTEN REFERRED to as a service which is "in the business of building friendships," Welcome Wagon's basic policy includes cooperation with churches of all faiths, with worthwhile civic and welfare groups; also participation in those activities which keep communities good places in which to live. It is significant that Welcome Wagon has been cited for its volunteer service and achievement in community and nation by such organizations as the American Red Cross, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, American Heart Association, American Heritage Foundation, United States Treasury Department and many other such groups.

WELCOME WAGON service is one not only of public relations but, more important, it meets a present-day need in the field of human relations.

Mrs. Comstock, on behalf of her sponsors here in Kingston, will bring church and civic information to the families on whom she calls. With her basket of gifts, Mrs. Comstock will extend for those sponsors to the people of this community the old-fashioned hospitality for which Welcome Wagon is so well known.

Mrs. Comstock knows this community. She is interested in its welfare and in its progress, including the well-being of its citizens.

ANSWERING THE TACTLESS

A reader asks: "Will you please tell me what I can say, without being rude, when someone asks me a question that I would prefer not to answer?"

Pay no attention to the question and try to change the subject by calling the questioner's attention to something else. Or to someone who is persistent, simply answer, "I'm sorry but that is something I would rather not talk about."

Announcing New Wedding Date

Dear Mrs. Post: Due to the sudden illness of my fiance, our wedding had to be postponed. The invitations had been sent out and replies received. We are now planning to marry in a month and I would like to know how to notify the guests of this. Is there a special form to send out re-announcing the new date, or should new wedding invitations be made up. Also, should these be sent only to those who accepted the first invitation, or are they sent to those who declined as well. Please let me hear from you.

Answer: The following form would be sent out:

Mr. and Mrs. John Jones
announce that the marriage of their daughter
Mary Elizabeth
to
Mr. Henry Worthington
which had been postponed
will now take place
on Saturday, the twelfth of February
at four o'clock

This should be sent to all who received the original invitations whether they accepted or not, because many of those who regretted may now be able to come.

Order of Service at Family Dinner

Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to know which member of the family should be served first at a family dinner table when the mother is serving—the father or daughters aged nineteen and sixteen?

Answer: It is not very important who is served first at a family table but most often, she would help father first.

Twenty questions and answers about serving are included in Mrs. Post's booklet No. 504, "The Etiquette of Table Setting." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy send 25 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York, 19, N. Y.

John Ericson Scored Hit With Audience At Movie Premier

JOHN ERICSON

Handsome young MGM star John Ericson was the hero of the bobby-soxers during his personal appearance here Saturday night. Mobbed in the lobby of the new Community Theatre, a Walter Reade Theatre, at the premiere showing of Bad Day at Black Rock, the friendly actor with his wife, Millie Coury, obliged the autograph hunters willingly.

HIS ENGAGING personality won over the capacity audience at the showing during his welcome speech. The pleased patrons applauded at his first appearance on the screen in the thrilling new movie, as they did also for Woodstocker, Lee Marvin, who is featured in the film.

At the reception for the stars and Reade dignitaries at the Governor Clinton following the premiere, the young actor, with a warm smile, said he was more than pleased at the reception here in Kingston.

REFERRING to the Port Ewen Drum Corps, and the flashing spotlights, the Cinema-Scope star said it was a "fitting premiere" for the picture. With twelve more such events on the busy agenda for himself and Mrs. Ericson, he was quite happy that the showing of the feature was coincident with his personal appearance. Other towns will have the picture following by five days, as did Denver, Colo., the first stop on their schedule.

The current showing at the Community is Mr. Ericon's fifth picture to play here in Kingston. Starting with Teresa in 1951, opposite Pier Angeli, he rapidly rose to stardom through roles in Rhapsody, The Student Prince and Green Fire, which played here over the New Year's weekend.

A GRADUATE of American Academy of Dramatic Arts, New York, he was seasoned in summer stock appearances at the Gateway Theatre, Gatlinsburg, Tenn, and in the Barter Theatre, Abington, Va.

Jose Ferrer, looking for talent to cast Stalag 17, heard of Ericson's fine performance in Teresa, even before the film was released. He was right on Ericson and on the play, which ran for a year and six months on Broadway. Ericson also was with the company on a six months coast to coast tour.

SOON AFTER, he signed his MGM contract, Ericson scored another first. He flew to Chicago and proposed to singer Milly Coury. They were married in Los Angeles, September 12, 1953.

BORN IN EUROPE, Ericson came to the United States from Antwerp, Belgium at the age of three with his parents, the former Ellen Wilson, well known actress and operatic star, and his father, Carl F. Meibes, president of a New York food extract corporation.

Mrs. John Glennon Named Y Chairman For Birthday Gift

Mrs. John Glennon has been named chairman of the Kingston YWCA Centennial Birthday Gift Committee, Mrs. Vincent Carr, centennial chairman announced at an open meeting of the Centennial Committee held at the YWCA on Friday.

KINGSTON'S SHARE of the birthday gift of five-million dollars is $2,800. This gift to the Capital Funds of the National Board was voted by the association delegates at the national convention at Chicago in 1952 in order that the many services to the local associations can be continued and increased in spite of inflated costs in comparison to previous years.

Members of the National Board have already obtained pledges amounting to over 1,800,000 toward their goal of 2 million.

MRS. CARR also gave a report of the Centennial Inaugural Luncheon held at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel in New York on Tuesday, quoting from Mr. Dulles' speech and reading a royal greeting from Queen Elizabeth of England. The royal greeting scroll was flown from the birthplace of the YWCA in London and presented to Miss Lilace Barnes, who is presently president of the World's Council of the YWCA, the first American to hold this high office. In her message, Queen Elizabeth said, "As a patron of the YWCA of Great Britain, I rejoice to think that this movement, built on the sure foundations of Christianity, has attained its centenary."

The report of Mrs. Theron Culver, on the Centennial Membership Drive showed that over 200 new members were added to the rolls during the drive.

PLANS FOR future events in the Centennial year include a Y-Teen Penny Carnival to be held March 19 and a dinner in April similar to last year's 99th birthday party with a nationally known speaker.

John Ericson Scored Hit With Audience At Movie Premier

JOHN ERICSON

Handsome young MGM star John Ericson was the hero of the bobby-soxers during his personal appearance here Saturday night. Mobbed in the lobby of the new Community Theatre, a Walter Reade Theatre, at the premiere showing of Bad Day at Black Rock, the friendly actor with his wife, Millie Coury, obliged the autograph hunters willingly.

HIS ENGAGING personality won over the capacity audience at the showing during his welcome speech. The pleased patrons applauded at his first appearance on the screen in the thrilling new movie, as they did also for Woodstocker, Lee Marvin, who is featured in the film.

At the reception for the stars and Reade dignitaries at the Governor Clinton following the premiere, the young actor, with a warm smile, said he was more than pleased at the reception here in Kingston.

REFERRING to the Port Ewen Drum Corps, and the flashing spotlights, the Cinema-Scope star said it was a "fitting premiere" for the picture. With twelve more such events on the busy agenda for himself and Mrs. Ericson, he was quite happy that the showing of the feature was coincident with his personal appearance. Other towns will have the picture following by five days, as did Denver, Colo., the first stop on their schedule.

The current showing at the Community is Mr. Ericon's fifth picture to play here in Kingston. Starting with Teresa in 1951, opposite Pier Angeli, he rapidly rose to stardom through roles in Rhapsody, The Student Prince and Green Fire, which played here over the New Year's weekend.

A GRADUATE of American Academy of Dramatic Arts, New York, he was seasoned in summer stock appearances at the Gateway Theatre, Gatlinsburg, Tenn, and in the Barter Theatre, Abington, Va.

Jose Ferrer, looking for talent to cast Stalag 17, heard of Ericson's fine performance in Teresa, even before the film was released. He was right on Ericson and on the play, which ran for a year and six months on Broadway. Ericson also was with the company on a six months coast to coast tour.

SOON AFTER he signed his MGM contract, Ericson scored another first. He flew to Chicago and proposed to singer Milly Coury. They were married in Los Angeles, September 12, 1953.

BORN IN EUROPE, Ericson came to the United States from Antwerp, Belgium at the age of three with his parents, the former Ellen Wilson, well known actress and operatic star, and his father, Carl F. Meibes, president of a New York food extract corporation.

DUSO Cagers Resume Pursuit of Newburgh

Kingston Plays At Fallsburgh

Tonight's Games
Kingston at Fallsburgh
Middletown at Ellenville
Port Jervis at Newburgh
Monticello at Poughkeepsie
Liberty, bye

Tonight's DUSO League schedule is fraught with intriguing possibilities, but conference experts see nothing but a long, dusty road ahead for the rest of the contenders as they pursue Newburgh Academy's team of destiny.

Although Coach G. Warren Kias hasn't given up the ghost, the early season results make out a difficult case for the runnersup squads.

MIDDLETOWN, theoretically, is in the thick of the pennant chase with only one loss, but the Middies have yet to be subjected to the rigors and pitfalls of the road.

While Kingston squares off with sub-par Fallsburgh Central team in Sullivan county, the Middies are likely to get their come uppance from an Ellenville team that must be smarting and eager to rebound from its field house shellacking here Friday.

But Kias and the Maroons are wary of Fallsburgh and any other team, and, as the Maroon mentor points out "we're playing them just one at a time."

IF ELLENVILLE doesn't sufficiently impress Middletown that pennants are won on the road, then there are only Kingston, Poughkeepsie and Monticello waiting to show them the facts of life. Just those three.

Poughkeepsie and Monticello are tied in the loss column with two setbacks apiece, so the Monties figure to get hurt in this one scheduled for the celebrated bandbox.

Meanwhile, what is happening to Newburgh Academy? Well, after that hectic brawl in Monticello last Friday night, the Glittering Gooldbacks will be on pie a la mode rations when Port Jervis (2-4) visits the NFA gym tonight.

COACH KIAS reverted to his original starting five of Skip Brodhead, Tom Flemming, Ray Lawrence, Don Baum and Bob Maines against Ellenville.

Flemming responded with his best shooting performance of the season. The Maroons cut down their fouling and that helped. Ellenville, despite its excellent record, was jolted early and never recovered.

Tonight's test at Fallsburgh will determine if Kingston has settled down for a successful run. An impressive victory will do wonders for the Maroon morale.

Minnesota, Iowa Tied In Torrid Big 10 Race

The Associated Press

The frantic scramble for the Big Ten basketball championship showed no signs of letting up today. No team has showed any marked superiority and things are getting to a point where there is no such thing as an upset.

Last night, Illinois, which had become a cautious favorite, got licked by Iowa, one of the preseason favorites, 92-80, and Indiana, which had been counted out of the running last week after winning the title the last two years, powered Michigan State, 88-79.

THE IOWA VICTORY over Illinois, the seventh-ranked team in this week's Associated Press poll, sent the Hawkeyes—ranked 19th—into a first place tie with idle Minnesota, each with three victories and one defeat. Illinois now shows a 3-2 mark in third place.

Indiana, which has been having trouble beating anyone despite the homeric efforts of Big Don Schlundt, an All-America last season, moved up to a tie for sixth place with a 2-3 record.

Northwestern took over undisputed possession of third place by whipping Purdue, 93-88.

IOWA HAD A LONE haul to beat the Illini, overcoming a 16-point deficit in the second half. Two substitutes, Bob George and Les Hawthorne, sparked the late Hawkeye rally and with a little over seven minutes remaining, they took over the lead for good.

Schlundt, as usual, was the big gun for Indiana with 36 points, including 16 of 17 free throws. By their victory, the Hoosiers maintained their record of never having lost a Big Ten game to Michigan State.

Like Iowa, Northwestern was forced to come from behind. The Wildcats were behind by 10 points late in the half and it was not until four seconds left in regulation play that they managed to tie it at 77-all. During the extra session, the Wildcats hit for 10 free throws.

THE NATION'S NO. 1 team, Kentucky, had a close call and had to fight right down to the wire to turn back Louisiana State, 64-62. With only two seconds left LSU gained possession of the ball, but couldn't make the final two points.

Mississippi upset Vanderbilt, 77-63, in another Southeastern Conference game. It was the Commodores' first defeat in league play and in the process they were knocked out of the lead.

Georgia Tech, which had lost three straight since upsetting Kentucky more than a week ago, was the master of Mississippi State, 90-71, in another Southeastern loop engagement.

In the Big Seven, Colorado remained in a tie for the lead with Missouri by whipping Oklahoma, 91-82. Kansas, which hasn't been beaten on the Iowa State home court in six seasons, maintained its record at Ames by edging the Cyclones, 73-72.

William and Mary halted Virginia Tech, 75-69, and Wisconsin vanquished Butler, 57-53, in other major games.

Butte, Mont. — Kenny Davis, Los Angeles, outpointed Ralph Capone, Chicago, 10 (Eds: featherweights, exact weight unavailable)

Saddler Kayoes Perez in 4th

Boston, Jan. 18 (AP)—Only his home state of New York recognizes Sandy Saddler as featherweight king, but he looked like champ of all 48 last night as he blasted out Lulu Perez of Brooklyn in four rounds. Saddler looked like his old self as he tuned up for a Feb. 25 title defense against Teddy (Red Top) Davis in New York.

The 28-year-old Saddler nailed Perez with a long left hook to the head early in the fourth round of their scheduled 10. Lulu staggered off the ropes into a two-fisted flurry of at least a dozen blows—all of them packed with power.

PEREZ SAGGED to the canvas on his haunches, bewildered. He was up just as the count passed 10. It was all over at 1:34 and he was Saddler's 98th knockout victim. Sandy has won 138, lost 12 and drawn two.

The National Boxing Association recently declared the featherweight title vacant because Saddler failed to defend it, but has agreed to recognize the Saddler-Davis winner as champion.

Saddler scaled 131 for the bout to 127¼ for Perez.

PETE BLANSCHAN'S 24 markers, on a dozen baskets, set the pace for the Nationals, who survived a 24-point barrage by Preps in the fourth period.

Gene Nagele also hit 13 points and Mike Perry 9 for the winners. Top men for Preps were Norman Wells with 15 and Frank Weishaupt with 12.

East-West Cagers Set

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—A galaxy of National Basketball Assn. all-stars will be on display at Madison Square Garden tonight in the fifth annual East-West classic.

The East holds a 3-1 edge in the series and will rule a three-point choice to continue its division supremacy. Last season the East won 98-93 in overtime before a Garden turnout of 16,487 and another large crowd is expected tonight.

The West's only victory in the series was in 1953 at Fort Wayne, 79-75. The first two games, played in the Boston Garden, were won by the East, 111-94 and 108-81.

Annual Dog Show At Garden, Feb. 14-15

Some 2,500 kings and queens of dogdom will vie for the choicest crowns in the nation February 14-15, when the 79th annual Westminster Kennel Club dog show is held at Madison Square Garden.

As rich in tradition as the famed Kentucky Derby, this competition for the highest honor in the dog world is one of the events in the United States.

Following the usual pattern, judging will be divided into six groups—sporting, hound, working, terrier, toy and non-sporting.

DUSO Cagers Resume Pursuit of Newburgh

Kingston Plays At Fallsburgh

Tonight's Games
Kingston at Fallsburgh
Middletown at Ellenville
Port Jervis at Newburgh
Monticello at Poughkeepsie
Liberty, bye

Tonight's DUSO League schedule is fraught with intriguing possibilities, but conference experts see nothing but a long, dusty road ahead for the rest of the contenders as they pursue Newburgh Academy's team of destiny.

Although Coach G. Warren Kias hasn't given up the ghost, the early season results make out a difficult case for the runnersup squads.

MIDDLETOWN, theoretically, is in the thick of the pennant chase with only one loss, but the Middies have yet to be subjected to the rigors and pitfalls of the road.

While Kingston squares off with sub-par Fallsburgh Central team in Sullivan county, the Middies are likely to get their come uppance from an Ellenville team that must be smarting and eager to rebound from its field house shellacking here Friday.

But Kias and the Maroons are wary of Fallsburgh and any other team, and, as the Maroon mentor points out "we're playing them just one at a time."

IF ELLENVILLE doesn't sufficiently impress Middletown that pennants are won on the road, then there are only Kingston, Poughkeepsie and Monticello waiting to show them the facts of life. Just those three.

Poughkeepsie and Monticello are tied in the loss column with two setbacks apiece, so the Monties figure to get hurt in this one scheduled for the celebrated bandbox.

Meanwhile, what is happening to Newburgh Academy? Well, after that hectic brawl in Monticello last Friday night, the Glittering Gooldbacks will be on pie a la mode rations when Port Jervis (2-4) visits the NFA gym tonight.

COACH KIAS reverted to his original starting five of Skip Brodhead, Tom Flemming, Ray Lawrence, Don Baum and Bob Maines against Ellenville.

Flemming responded with his best shooting performance of the season. The Maroons cut down their fouling and that helped. Ellenville, despite its excellent record, was jolted early and never recovered.

Tonight's test at Fallsburgh will determine if Kingston has settled down for a successful run. An impressive victory will do wonders for the Maroon morale.

Minnesota, Iowa Tied In Torrid Big 10 Race

The Associated Press

The frantic scramble for the Big Ten basketball championship showed no signs of letting up today. No team has showed any marked superiority and things are getting to a point where there is no such thing as an upset.

Last night, Illinois, which had become a cautious favorite, got licked by Iowa, one of the preseason favorites, 92-80, and Indiana, which had been counted out of the running last week after winning the title the last two years, powered Michigan State, 88-79.

THE IOWA VICTORY over Illinois, the seventh-ranked team in this week's Associated Press poll, sent the Hawkeyes—ranked 19th—into a first place tie with idle Minnesota, each with three victories and one defeat. Illinois now shows a 3-2 mark in third place.

Indiana, which has been having trouble beating anyone despite the homeric efforts of Big Don Schlundt, an All-America last season, moved up to a tie for sixth place with a 2-3 record.

Northwestern took over undisputed possession of third place by whipping Purdue, 93-88.

IOWA HAD A LONE haul to beat the Illini, overcoming a 16-point deficit in the second half. Two substitutes, Bob George and Les Hawthorne, sparked the late Hawkeye rally and with a little over seven minutes remaining, they took over the lead for good.

Schlundt, as usual, was the big gun for Indiana with 36 points, including 16 of 17 free throws. By their victory, the Hoosiers maintained their record of never having lost a Big Ten game to Michigan State.

Like Iowa, Northwestern was forced to come from behind. The Wildcats were behind by 10 points late in the half and it was not until four seconds left in regulation play that they managed to tie it at 77-all. During the extra session, the Wildcats hit for 10 free throws.

THE NATION'S NO. 1 team, Kentucky, had a close call and had to fight right down to the wire to turn back Louisiana State, 64-62. With only two seconds left LSU gained possession of the ball, but couldn't make the final two points.

Mississippi upset Vanderbilt, 77-63, in another Southeastern Conference game. It was the Commodores' first defeat in league play and in the process they were knocked out of the lead.

Georgia Tech, which had lost three straight since upsetting Kentucky more than a week ago, was the master of Mississippi State, 90-71, in another Southeastern loop engagement.

In the Big Seven, Colorado remained in a tie for the lead with Missouri by whipping Oklahoma, 91-82. Kansas, which hasn't been beaten on the Iowa State home court in six seasons, maintained its record at Ames by edging the Cyclones, 73-72.

William and Mary halted Virginia Tech, 75-69, and Wisconsin vanquished Butler, 57-53, in other major games.

Butte, Mont. — Kenny Davis, Los Angeles, outpointed Ralph Capone, Chicago, 10 (Eds: featherweights, exact weight unavailable)

Saddler Kayoes Perez in 4th

Boston, Jan. 18 (AP)—Only his home state of New York recognizes Sandy Saddler as featherweight king, but he looked like champ of all 48 last night as he blasted out Lulu Perez of Brooklyn in four rounds. Saddler looked like his old self as he tuned up for a Feb. 25 title defense against Teddy (Red Top) Davis in New York.

The 28-year-old Saddler nailed Perez with a long left hook to the head early in the fourth round of their scheduled 10. Lulu staggered off the ropes into a two-fisted flurry of at least a dozen blows—all of them packed with power.

PEREZ SAGGED to the canvas on his haunches, bewildered. He was up just as the count passed 10. It was all over at 1:34 and he was Saddler's 98th knockout victim. Sandy has won 138, lost 12 and drawn two.

The National Boxing Association recently declared the featherweight title vacant because Saddler failed to defend it, but has agreed to recognize the Saddler-Davis winner as champion.

Saddler scaled 131 for the bout to 127¼ for Perez.

SPORTS

By Charles J. Tiano
Sports Editor

With characteristic candor, Bo Gill, the itinerant Newburgh sports scrivener, has virtually obviated the necessity of a DUSO Sportswriters Association meeting this March to select the All-DUSO basketball team.

Without exerting any more than normal pressure on his tongue and cheek, blithely selects three NFA players—the inevitable Mickey Burkoski, Harold Kaplan and Dick Clark to go along with Skip Brodhead of Kingston and Mendy Ringel of Monticello.

He'll get no argument on Broadhead from this corner or any other typewriter in the DSA, but let's wait until March 2 before we count all the ballots.

In the meantime guys like Bob Maines of Kingston; Ronnie Trachtenburgh and Harold Sturgis of Monticello; Monty Stickles and Charlie Johnson of Poughkeepsie may have something to say about the final composition of the basketball All-DUSO.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Murray Olderman says that golf's nabobs are in for headaches if they let the current gambling rage go on unimpeded . . . allowing one young and lucky professional to make five times his announced earnings in 1954 . . . another young pro was so unnerved, after winning a major, and heavily wagered tournament, that his game was shot for the rest of the year. . . . Dick McCarthy expects to return to work soon minus his appendix and with well-rested larynx. . . . W. Rice of General Delivery, Albany, has announced plans for the Greater Troy semi-pro basketball tournament, running from Feb. 27 through March 13 at the Palace Sports Arena at Troy. It is expected that 16 of the strongest teams in a four-state area will compete. . . . Supervisor James "Lefty" Martin, ye ancient southpaw, has accepted Tommy Davitt's invitation to address the annual Old Timers baseball reunion in February.

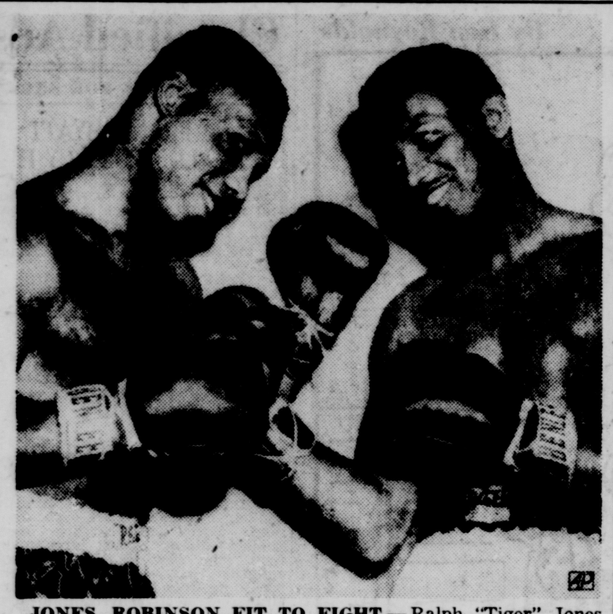
• Of Men and Mice:

Al Simmons of baseball's Hall of Fame and Bill Leckonby, head football coach at Lehigh University, will be guest speakers at the Poughkeepsie Elks' "Night of Champions." Tom Gloede, who was Leckonby's prize pupil at Lehigh, will be cited as Dutchess county's Athlete of the Year. . . . Coach G. Warren Kias has come up with the most sensible solution to the foul rule dilemma of collegiate and scholastic basketball. . . . He would use the 24-second clock only in the last four minutes of the fourth quarter, make in the act-of-shooting fouls two throws and all others one throw. The Maroon mentor also feels some contact calls should be liberalized. . . . Like most other coaches he's dead set against the present bonus rule.

• Parapelgic Basketball Rules:

If your curiosity has been aroused about how the paraplegics will play that game Sunday at the municipal auritorium, here are a few of the pertinent rules for wheelchair basketball:

1. Ten-minute quarters at all official games with two minute rest periods between quarters, 10 minutes at halftime.
2. Locomotion with the ball shall consist of two pushes only on the chair after which player must dribble ball twice or throw to another player before pushing again.
3. One wheel on outside line shall be termed as out of bounds.
4. A player must not hold, push or ram another player's chair. Penalty for such an act is personal foul.
5. Foul shooting is done with the back wheels of the chair on the foul line.
6. 15 seconds are allowed the team in control of the ball to advance from rear to front court.
7. Play stops if a player falls out of his chair in the line of play, but continues uninterrupted if not in line of play.
8. Six-second time limit in the bucket.
9. If the score is tied at end of fourth quarter, extra 5-minute periods are played until tie is broken.
10. All other rules are followed as in regular basketball.



JONES, ROBINSON FIT TO FIGHT—Ralph "Tiger" Jones, left, and Sugar Ray Robinson square off following medical examinations at Illinois State Athletic Commission office in Chicago (Jan. 17) where they were pronounced in excellent condition for their scheduled 10-round televised bout at the Stadium (Jan. 19). It will be the second fight in two weeks for Robinson, who is attempting to regain the middleweight title he vacated in 1952. He scored a six-round KO over Joe Rindone in Detroit on Jan. 5. (AP Wirephoto).

Dodgers Lead Sign-Up Derby; Gilliam Inks

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers didn't win the National League pennant last year, but it looked today like they'll be first in the contract derby.

With the signing of second-baseman Junior Gilliam, the Brooks now have 21 contracts in the safe and only two regulars to go. They are first baseman Gil Hodges and outfielder Carl Furillo. Neither is expected to cause any troubles.

GILLIAM whose name has been bandied about in trade talk all winter, will get about $13,000, an increase of $2,000 over his figure of last season.

Whether the Brooks brass intends to keep him remains to be seen. The Dodgers have a plethora of infielders. The big complaint against Gilliam is that he lacks someting in making the double play.

Elsewhere on the baseball front:

VIC WERTZ, Cleveland outfielder who has been holding out for three days, signed for the same figure as last year, about $25,000 and commented that "it's a bit early for me to give any serious thought of retiring from baseball."

Jackie Robinson, the Dodgers veteran infielder, says the current season may be his last in baseball if he is bothered by injuries as much at last season. . . . Outfielder Cal Abrams became the first holdout of the Baltimore Orioles when he returned his unsigned contract to Manager Paul Richards, but pitcher Harry Byrd has signed. . . . George Earnshaw's father, John J. Earnshaw, died in Montclair, N. J., at the age of 87.

Cleveland has signed Stan Pitula of the Keokuk Colonels, the only pitcher in the Three-I League to win 20 games last year.

Denver—Joe Maldonado, 131, Denver, outpointed Russ Tague, 127½, Davenport, Iowa, 8.

Layne Next for Floyd?

Patterson TKO's Grant In Fifth at Parkway

Savage Upsets Moses Ward

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—Floyd Patterson, 20-year-old former Golden Gloves Champ, is ready to mingle with the heavyweights after stopping his second opponent within 10 days.

The Brooklyn lad's latest was an easy TKO over Don Grant of Los Angeles in 1:13 of the fifth round last night at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway. He stopped Willie Troy in five rounds at Madison Square Garden, Jan. 7.

"I'm going to try to match him with Rex Layne (No. 9 heavyweight) for Feb. 14 or Feb. 21," said Teddy Brenner, Parkway matchmaker, after Referee Barney Felix ended the one-sided bout following an eight-count knockdown by Patterson in the fifth.

"I'LL CONSIDER LAYNE or any match that will enable Floyd to gain further experience," said Gus D'Amato, his manager. However, he turned down a proposed Feb. 11 match with Harold Johnson at the Garden earlier in the day.

Patterson scaled 168 for Grant aand probably would do 175 for Layne, who weighed 207¾, Dec. 12 when he battled 10 rounds to a draw with Heinz Neuhaus at Dortmund, Germany.

Patterson whipped Jimmy Slade, the No. 7 heavyweight, Nov. 9, and he seems ready to venture among the heavier fighters. D'Amato is grooming the boy for the heavyweight title, in another year or two. Patterson was 20 Jan. 4.

Grant, 166¾, said he was "not quite up to par" for Patterson, who now has won 20 of 21, losing only to ex-champ Joey Maxim on a disputed decision June 7.

REFEREE FELIX and Judges Joe Agnello and Leo Birnbaum had it a 4-0 shutout after four rounds. So did the AP card. The crowd of 1,690, paying about $3,000, and Julius Helfand, new chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, appeared satisfied with the victory of Patterson, a 4 to 1 favorite.

Moses Ward, the 7 to 5 favorite at New York's St. Nicholas Arena, was upset by Milo Savage, 29-year-old ex-GI from Salt Lake City in a one-sided 10-round decision. Savage dropped the Detroit boxer twice for nine-counts. Ward weighed 161, Savage 159¾.

Referee Al Berl and Judge Bert Grant scored it 7-3 and Judge Arthur Susskind 8-2. The AP card was 8-2, all in favor of Savage. A crowd of about 700 watched.

AT TORONTO Earl Walls, the No. 5 heavyweight, whipped Jimmy Slade of New York on a unanimous decision at Maple Leaf Gardens. Walls weighed 197½, Slade 179¼ pounds for the 10-round bout.

Cats Hold 1st Place

(By The Associated Press)

Kentucky, back in winning stride again, held a commanding lead today in the Associated Press weekly ratings of the nation's top college basketball teams.

For the fifth straight week the Wildcats ranked as the No. 1 team, reaching 926 points on the basis of 10 points for first, nine for second, etc. Of the 115 ballots cast by sports writers and sportscasters, 55 listed Kentucky in first place. The poll is based on records of teams through games of Saturday, Jan. 15.

NORTH CAROLINA STATE maintained its second-place status with 590 points, despite a loss to Maryland last week.

San Francisco's up-and-coming Dons won three games last week and jumped from fifth to third.

Maryland, on the strength of its success over N.C. State, experienced the biggest jump of the week in advancing from 11th to sixth. Illinois remained No. 7, but its prestige was deflated in last night's 92-80 loss to Iowa, ranked 19th.

The top 10 with first place votes and season records through Saturday's games in parentheses (points on 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2, 1 basis).

SPORTS

By Charles J. Tiano
Sports Editor

With characteristic candor, Bo Gill, the itinerant Newburgh sports scrivener, has virtually obviated the necessity of a DUSO Sportswriters Association meeting this March to select the All-DUSO basketball team.

Without exerting any more than normal pressure on his tongue and cheek, blithely selects three NFA players—the inevitable Mickey Burkoski, Harold Kaplan and Dick Clark to go along with Skip Brodhead of Kingston and Mendy Ringel of Monticello.

He'll get no argument on Broadhead from this corner or any other typewriter in the DSA, but let's wait until March 2 before we count all the ballots.

In the meantime guys like Bob Maines of Kingston; Ronnie Trachtenburgh and Harold Sturgis of Monticello; Monty Stickles and Charlie Johnson of Poughkeepsie may have something to say about the final composition of the basketball All-DUSO.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Murray Olderman says that golf's nabobs are in for headaches if they let the current gambling rage go on unimpeded . . . allowing one young and lucky professional to make five times his announced earnings in 1954 . . . another young pro was so unnerved, after winning a major, and heavily wagered tournament, that his game was shot for the rest of the year. . . . Dick McCarthy expects to return to work soon minus his appendix and with well-rested larynx. . . . W. Rice of General Delivery, Albany, has announced plans for the Greater Troy semi-pro basketball tournament, running from Feb. 27 through March 13 at the Palace Sports Arena at Troy. It is expected that 16 of the strongest teams in a four-state area will compete. . . . Supervisor James "Lefty" Martin, ye ancient southpaw, has accepted Tommy Davitt's invitation to address the annual Old Timers baseball reunion in February.

• Of Men and Mice:

Al Simmons of baseball's Hall of Fame and Bill Leckonby, head football coach at Lehigh University, will be guest speakers at the Poughkeepsie Elks' "Night of Champions." Tom Gloede, who was Leckonby's prize pupil at Lehigh, will be cited as Dutchess county's Athlete of the Year. . . . Coach G. Warren Kias has come up with the most sensible solution to the foul rule dilemma of collegiate and scholastic basketball. . . . He would use the 24-second clock only in the last four minutes of the fourth quarter, make in the act-of-shooting fouls two throws and all others one throw. The Maroon mentor also feels some contact calls should be liberalized. . . . Like most other coaches he's dead set against the present bonus rule.

• Parapelgic Basketball Rules:

If your curiosity has been aroused about how the paraplegics will play that game Sunday at the municipal auritorium, here are a few of the pertinent rules for wheelchair basketball:

1. Ten-minute quarters at all official games with two minute rest periods between quarters, 10 minutes at halftime.
2. Locomotion with the ball shall consist of two pushes only on the chair after which player must dribble ball twice or throw to another player before pushing again.
3. One wheel on outside line shall be termed as out of bounds.
4. A player must not hold, push or ram another player's chair. Penalty for such an act is personal foul.
5. Foul shooting is done with the back wheels of the chair on the foul line.
6. 15 seconds are allowed the team in control of the ball to advance from rear to front court.
7. Play stops if a player falls out of his chair in the line of play, but continues uninterrupted if not in line of play.
8. Six-second time limit in the bucket.
9. If the score is tied at end of fourth quarter, extra 5-minute periods are played until tie is broken.
10. All other rules are followed as in regular basketball.

JONES, ROBINSON FIT TO FIGHT—Ralph "Tiger" Jones, left, and Sugar Ray Robinson square off following medical examinations at Illinois State Athletic Commission office in Chicago (Jan. 17) where they were pronounced in excellent condition for their scheduled 10-round televised bout at the Stadium (Jan. 19). It will be the second fight in two weeks for Robinson, who is attempting to regain the middleweight title he vacated in 1952. He scored a six-round KO over Joe Rindone in Detroit on Jan. 5. (AP Wirephoto).

Dodgers Lead Sign-Up Derby; Gilliam Inks

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers didn't win the National League pennant last year, but it looked today like they'll be first in the contract derby.

With the signing of second-baseman Junior Gilliam, the Brooks now have 21 contracts in the safe and only two regulars to go. They are first baseman Gil Hodges and outfielder Carl Furillo. Neither is expected to cause any troubles.

GILLIAM whose name has been bandied about in trade talk all winter, will get about $13,000, an increase of $2,000 over his figure of last season.

Whether the Brooks brass intends to keep him remains to be seen. The Dodgers have a plethora of infielders. The big complaint against Gilliam is that he lacks someting in making the double play.

Elsewhere on the baseball front:

VIC WERTZ, Cleveland outfielder who has been holding out for three days, signed for the same figure as last year, about $25,000 and commented that "it's a bit early for me to give any serious thought of retiring from baseball."

Jackie Robinson, the Dodgers veteran infielder, says the current season may be his last in baseball if he is bothered by injuries as much at last season. . . . Outfielder Cal Abrams became the first holdout of the Baltimore Orioles when he returned his unsigned contract to Manager Paul Richards, but pitcher Harry Byrd has signed. . . . George Earnshaw's father, John J. Earnshaw, died in Montclair, N. J., at the age of 87.

Cleveland has signed Stan Pitula of the Keokuk Colonels, the only pitcher in the Three-I League to win 20 games last year.

Denver—Joe Maldonado, 131, Denver, outpointed Russ Tague, 127½, Davenport, Iowa, 8.

Layne Next for Floyd?

Patterson TKO's Grant In Fifth at Parkway

Savage Upsets Moses Ward

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—Floyd Patterson, 20-year-old former Golden Gloves Champ, is ready to mingle with the heavyweights after stopping his second opponent within 10 days.

The Brooklyn lad's latest was an easy TKO over Don Grant of Los Angeles in 1:13 of the fifth round last night at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway. He stopped Willie Troy in five rounds at Madison Square Garden, Jan. 7.

"I'm going to try to match him with Rex Layne (No. 9 heavyweight) for Feb. 14 or Feb. 21," said Teddy Brenner, Parkway matchmaker, after Referee Barney Felix ended the one-sided bout following an eight-count knockdown by Patterson in the fifth.

"I'LL CONSIDER LAYNE or any match that will enable Floyd to gain further experience," said Gus D'Amato, his manager. However, he turned down a proposed Feb. 11 match with Harold Johnson at the Garden earlier in the day.

Patterson scaled 168 for Grant aand probably would do 175 for Layne, who weighed 207¾, Dec. 12 when he battled 10 rounds to a draw with Heinz Neuhaus at Dortmund, Germany.

Patterson whipped Jimmy Slade, the No. 7 heavyweight, Nov. 9, and he seems ready to venture among the heavier fighters. D'Amato is grooming the boy for the heavyweight title, in another year or two. Patterson was 20 Jan. 4.

Grant, 166¾, said he was "not quite up to par" for Patterson, who now has won 20 of 21, losing only to ex-champ Joey Maxim on a disputed decision June 7.

REFEREE FELIX and Judges Joe Agnello and Leo Birnbaum had it a 4-0 shutout after four rounds. So did the AP card. The crowd of 1,690, paying about $3,000, and Julius Helfand, new chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, appeared satisfied with the victory of Patterson, a 4 to 1 favorite.

Moses Ward, the 7 to 5 favorite at New York's St. Nicholas Arena, was upset by Milo Savage, 29-year-old ex-GI from Salt Lake City in a one-sided 10-round decision. Savage dropped the Detroit boxer twice for nine-counts. Ward weighed 161, Savage 159¾.

Referee Al Berl and Judge Bert Grant scored it 7-3 and Judge Arthur Susskind 8-2. The AP card was 8-2, all in favor of Savage. A crowd of about 700 watched.

AT TORONTO Earl Walls, the No. 5 heavyweight, whipped Jimmy Slade of New York on a unanimous decision at Maple Leaf Gardens. Walls weighed 197½, Slade 179¼ pounds for the 10-round bout.

Cats Hold 1st Place

(By The Associated Press)

Kentucky, back in winning stride again, held a commanding lead today in the Associated Press weekly ratings of the nation's top college basketball teams.

For the fifth straight week the Wildcats ranked as the No. 1 team, reaching 926 points on the basis of 10 points for first, nine for second, etc. Of the 115 ballots cast by sports writers and sportscasters, 55 listed Kentucky in first place. The poll is based on records of teams through games of Saturday, Jan. 15.

NORTH CAROLINA STATE maintained its second-place status with 590 points, despite a loss to Maryland last week.

San Francisco's up-and-coming Dons won three games last week and jumped from fifth to third.

Maryland, on the strength of its success over N.C. State, experienced the biggest jump of the week in advancing from 11th to sixth. Illinois remained No. 7, but its prestige was deflated in last night's 92-80 loss to Iowa, ranked 19th.

The top 10 with first place votes and season records through Saturday's games in parentheses (points on 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2, 1 basis).

Commission Approves $1,000 Youth Grant

Woodstock Jan. 18—The application to the New York State Youth Commission for $1,000 has been approved, it was announced at the meeting of the Woodstock Town Board last Saturday night. The town will have to match that amount.

Joseph Fitzsimmons, town supervisor, was appointed welfare officer for 1955 at no compensation. Birge Simmons was appointed chairman of the board of assesseors. Montcena DeWitt, George Hopper and Dave Myer were re-appointed as constables. George Haythorne was appointed for the year 1955 as enforcement officer for the multiple dwelling law.

Quartet Featured

Woodstock, Jan. 18 — The Kroll Quartet, with William Kroll of Woodstock as director and first violinist, was featured in a concert of the Musicians Guild in the recent series at the New York Town Hall. According to a review in the New York Herald Tribune, on Wednesday, Jan. 12, by Francis D. Perkins, "Two adagios, those of a Haydn quartet and of Brahms' clarinet Quintet in B minor, provided the most memorable and absorbing moments in the second concert of the Musicians' Guild Town Hall series.

"The Kroll Quartet was thoroughly immersed in the essential atmosphere of the music in both works, and the audience also.

"In the Haydn movement, Mr. Kroll's tone was remarkably ingratiating, while in the Brahms adagio the balance was also admirable. The performance of the quartet was meritorious in a more routined, while spirited way; the finale was halted when one of Mr. Graeler's strings snapped, but this did not disturb the aplomb of the ensemble. The order of the program was altered from that originally announced, but without affecting the contrast and variety of the well chosen list.

Truck Time Has Passed

Police Chief Raymond VanBuren today issued a reminder that the deadline has passed for the use of 1954 license plates on commercial trucks and other vehicles.

Midnight Monday, Jan. 17 was the deadline for use of old plates on commercial trucks, trailers, suburbans and farm vehicles. All such vehicles are not permitted to operate without 1955 license plates, he warned.

Byrd Proposes

up to the realities of our fiscal situation," Byrd said in a statement.

"We are enjoying the greatest prosperity in our history. We are not in a war. If we cannot balance the budget now, I ask when can we balance it? Are we on a chronic deficit basis?"

Byrd gave tacit aid to Eisenhower in 1952 by refusing to support Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic nominees. Eisenhower carried Virginia.

SEN. DOUGLAS (D.-Ill.) said the Republicans campaigned in 1952 on the promise they would balance the budget, reduce taxes and maintain the national defense and had "sold the people a bill of goods."

"In practice we have had budget deficits every year and the national defense has not, in my judgment, been maintained," Douglas said.

Byrd said he favors cutting foreign economic aid drastically, but added there is a "10-billion-dollar backlog of former appropriations" in this field which Congress could reach only by rescinding previous appropriations.

Sens. Ellender (D.-La.) and Dworshak (R.-Idaho) said they are going to work within the Senate Appropriations Committee to do what they can to pare down the foreign outlays, of which $3,675,000,000 would be in military aid and $1,025,000,000 in economic assistance.

Sen. H. Alexander Smith R.-N. J.), a Foreign Relations Committee member, said that while his general impression of the request was favorable, "that is a larger amount that I thought would be asked."

THE MILITARY budget figures of $15,200,000,000 for the air force, $8,850,000,000 for the army and $9,700,000,000 for the navy already had been anticipated in Congress, where Democrats have said armed service policies are in for a thorough review.

Rep. Taber (R.-N. Y.), top GOP member of the House Appropriations Committee, said the estimate for the armed services "is as large as it should be." He said other places will be found where money can be saved.

The President's failure to recommend any new power units for the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) came under sharp attack, as did his proposed 147-million-dollar cut in natural resource development outlays.

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) said Eisenhower had let the TVA's budget be "prepared and submitted by enemies of the TVA."

Sen. Magnuson (D-Wash.) said the administration was not recommending any new major project starts "at a time when our power needs are doubling every 10 years."

The President's proposal to cut farm outlays 871 million dollars under those of the current year drew fire from some Democrats. The figure involved increases in some activities, since the budget estimated a 966-million-dollar saving under the new flexible price support program.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.), who favors returning to the old system of high, fixed price props for major field crops, said he thinks the saving under the new system is "way over estimated."

Thought It Funny?

Pontiac, Mich., Jan. 18 (AP)—Little 2-year-old Michael Sears laughed like the dickens and thought it was very funny. But his mother, Mrs. Rufus Sears, thought the incident was so unfunny and near-tragic that she called the Pontiac Press today "so you can warn others what might happen." Michael and a 5-year-old brother, William, were playing in the Sears basement Saturday. William sauntered up stairs and calmly informed his mother: "Mike crawled in the dryer (automatic clothes dryer) and I locked him in." That sent Mrs. Sears pell mell to the basement. "There was Mike looking through the glass and laughing like the dickens," she said. "Thank heaven, Bill didn't turn on the dryer, heating it up and starting its drum tumbling."

Expert to Make Check

Cleveland, Jan. 18 (AP)—Invited by counsel for Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, a west coast crime expert will come here next weekend to investigate the July 4 murder of Sheppard's wife, Marilyn. Sheppard, convicted of the crime, is appealing his sentence to life imprisonment. Dr. Paul L. Kirk, 52 a professor of criminalistics at the University of California, said he holds "no opinion in the case" and would be "completely neutral  no matter whom it hurts."

Austin, Tex., Jan. 18 (AP)—Allan Shivers today becomes the first man in Texas history to take the office of governor for a third elective term. Elaborate outdoor inaugural ceremonies at noon and a mid-morning mile-long parade were threatened by possibilities of rain and cold weather. The formal oath-taking for Shivers and Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey, both of whom ran on the Democratic party ticket, was to be moved inside the capitol in case of bad weather.

Mrs. Lanzner was beaten while en route home from shopping (Jan. 14), and died two days later. Lewis telephoned the reward from Las Vegas, Nev. (AP Wirephoto).

Radiology Is New Adult Course

A course in radiology designed to teach individuals how to cope with radioactivity in case of an atomic attack will be offered as a new course in local adult education.

The course will be given by the Ulster County Civil Defense Committee beginning Monday at 7:30 p. m., in Room V-206, Vocational Building.

Director of the study will be Boyd Miller, Kingston High School chemistry instructor, and Morris Nussbaum, city and county sanitary chemist and bacteriologist.

Registrations will be accepted in the office of Hubert Hoderath, director of adult education, Monday evening.

The course will include radioactivity, what it is, and its source, detection of radioactivity, operational knowledge of Geiger counter, Ionization chamber and Dosimeter.

It will also include the calculation of radioactive intensity in any given area, at any time after a bomb burst, calculation of safe length of stay in a contaminated area; calculation of delay time for safe entry into a contaminated area and posting of contaminated areas; health hazards of radioactivity and safety measures of protection; decontamination of radioactive substances and materials, and other related subjects.

Convicts Seize

brick cell block known as the Cherry Hill section.

PRISON GUARDS found in the yard a crude ladder made of pieces of wood, wire, pieces of belting and a necktie.

Vance said the prisoners first captured three guards before dawn. When those three failed to report on schedule, the other two went to check and were ambushed.

That prompted an alarm which brought police details armed with riot guns.

Guards inside the cell blocks do not carry weapons.

The ancient prison is in an industrialized area of the Charlestown section, not far from Bunker Hill, scene of one of the first battles of America's fight for independence.

THE CHERRY HILL section is used for men held in solitary.

In the early morning hours between the time of the alarm and the isolation of the revolt there was much yammering and jeering by the desperadoes at police on guard in the old prison, scene of several riots and escapes in recent years.

Corrections Commissioner E. Lawrence Spurr visited the prison and then reported to Governor Christian Herter who told reporters:

"It seems to be a mystery how the prisoners got the guards into the building. The outside door is steel, and it apparently still is locked from the outside, with the key in the guardroom."

The neatly belted straight skirt sprouts a patch pocket of modest dimensions, in front, for spring.

McCarthy Accuses

resigned, two were dropped when their assignments ended and one was transferred.

As for the 80 in the second category, the department said two were removed under the 1951 law, two resigned during proceedings against them under the old loyalty program, one resigned during proceedings against them under the Eisenhower security program, one was removed for personnel unsuitability. It gave this further breakdown: 32 resigned for other reasons, 10 were transferred, 4 ended limited appointments, 8 were dropped for economy reasons, 1 retired, 1 died and 7 were never employed.

THESE FIGURES total 69, and McCarthy said he assumed that meant 11 were still employed by the department.

McCarthy told newsmen he is asking the department for a more detailed report on the 90 cases and about 25 others.

He said he had no quarrel with the department's letter which, he added, "does show that they got rid of 69 out of 80 . . . a high mortality rate that shows something was radically wrong."

McCarthy said he suspected the whole incident represented "an attempt to exhume" former Sen. Millard E. Tydings, Maryland Democrat, for a political comeback.

Tydings headed the 1950 subcommittee which investigated McCarthy's charges and called them "a fraud and a hoax." McCarthy termed the group's report "gigantic in its fraud and deep in its deceit."

With McCarthy's backing, Sen. Butler (R.-Md.) defeated Tydings in 1950. His term as senator ends in 1956.

Told of McCarthy's comment, Tydings said: "He better be busy exhuming himself. Ever since he accused President Eisenhower of being soft on communism, he has been digging his own grave."

Atomic Sub Is

submarines under construction here. Two more such ships have been provided for and President Eisenhower, in his budget message to Congress yesterday, said three others are planned.

The Nautilus, built by the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp., carried a crew of about 100 officers and men, along with 64 navy and civilian technicians.

No diving operations were planned for her first run on builder's trials.

Rebels' Planes

had no hand in the outbreak.

Somoza told the group his country had taken "no part whatsoever" in the fighting.

BACKING UP their claim of nonintervention, Nicaraguan officials announced that two rebel AT6 trainer planes had landed at Rivas, Nicaragua, yesterday and were promptly seized. Nationality of the pilots was not disclosed.

There was no mention of a fighter plane the rebels have been reported using.

The OAS Council approved the sale of the U. S. planes to Costa Rica, reportedly for a token price of $1 each. The U. S. pilots who ferried them to El Coco will stay in San Jose a week to train Costa Ricans in handling them. The Costa Rican Air Force previously consisted of an old single-engine trainer and some borrowed commercial transports.

Chinese Reds

the Tachens with 155 mm guns, just as they have bombarded Yikiangshan from Toumen.

There are reported to be about 20,000 Nationalist troops and guerrillas on the Tachens, an important link in Chiang Kai-shek's chain of offshore islands.

Earlier today 60 Russian-built warplanes roared out from the mainland and plastered Yikiangshan and the Tachens with more than 200 bombs in 22 minutes. They followed this with a heavy artillery barrage on Yikiangshan from Toumen, apparently a prelude to invasion.

Tiny Yikiangshan has been subjected to repeated bombardments since Nov. 1 when the Reds reportedly fired more than 3,000 shells at it from Toumen island.

Its capture would be both politically and militarily important for it would give the Communists a victory to tie in with their oftrepeated threats to liberate Formosa.

If lost, Yikiangshan would be the first of President Chiang's outposts to fall since the Reds opened the civil war Sept. 3 with a 6,000-round bombardment of Quemoy.

Quartet Featured

Woodstock, Jan. 18 — The Kroll Quartet, with William Kroll of Woodstock as director and first violinist, was featured in a concert of the Musicians Guild in the recent series at the New York Town Hall. According to a review in the New York Herald Tribune, on Wednesday, Jan. 12, by Francis D. Perkins, "Two adagios, those of a Haydn quartet and of Brahms' clarinet Quintet in B minor, provided the most memorable and absorbing moments in the second concert of the Musicians' Guild Town Hall series.

"The Kroll Quartet was thoroughly immersed in the essential atmosphere of the music in both works, and the audience also.

"In the Haydn movement, Mr. Kroll's tone was remarkably ingratiating, while in the Brahms adagio the balance was also admirable. The performance of the quartet was meritorious in a more routined, while spirited way; the finale was halted when one of Mr. Graeler's strings snapped, but this did not disturb the aplomb of the ensemble. The order of the program was altered from that originally announced, but without affecting the contrast and variety of the well chosen list.

Truck Time Has Passed

Police Chief Raymond VanBuren today issued a reminder that the deadline has passed for the use of 1954 license plates on commercial trucks and other vehicles.

Midnight Monday, Jan. 17 was the deadline for use of old plates on commercial trucks, trailers, suburbans and farm vehicles. All such vehicles are not permitted to operate without 1955 license plates, he warned.

Byrd Proposes

up to the realities of our fiscal situation," Byrd said in a statement.

"We are enjoying the greatest prosperity in our history. We are not in a war. If we cannot balance the budget now, I ask when can we balance it? Are we on a chronic deficit basis?"

Byrd gave tacit aid to Eisenhower in 1952 by refusing to support Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic nominees. Eisenhower carried Virginia.

SEN. DOUGLAS (D.-Ill.) said the Republicans campaigned in 1952 on the promise they would balance the budget, reduce taxes and maintain the national defense and had "sold the people a bill of goods."

"In practice we have had budget deficits every year and the national defense has not, in my judgment, been maintained," Douglas said.

Byrd said he favors cutting foreign economic aid drastically, but added there is a "10-billion-dollar backlog of former appropriations" in this field which Congress could reach only by rescinding previous appropriations.

Sens. Ellender (D.-La.) and Dworshak (R.-Idaho) said they are going to work within the Senate Appropriations Committee to do what they can to pare down the foreign outlays, of which $3,675,000,000 would be in military aid and $1,025,000,000 in economic assistance.

Sen. H. Alexander Smith R.-N. J.), a Foreign Relations Committee member, said that while his general impression of the request was favorable, "that is a larger amount that I thought would be asked."

THE MILITARY budget figures of $15,200,000,000 for the air force, $8,850,000,000 for the army and $9,700,000,000 for the navy already had been anticipated in Congress, where Democrats have said armed service policies are in for a thorough review.

Rep. Taber (R.-N. Y.), top GOP member of the House Appropriations Committee, said the estimate for the armed services "is as large as it should be." He said other places will be found where money can be saved.

The President's failure to recommend any new power units for the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) came under sharp attack, as did his proposed 147-million-dollar cut in natural resource development outlays.

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) said Eisenhower had let the TVA's budget be "prepared and submitted by enemies of the TVA."

Sen. Magnuson (D-Wash.) said the administration was not recommending any new major project starts "at a time when our power needs are doubling every 10 years."

The President's proposal to cut farm outlays 871 million dollars under those of the current year drew fire from some Democrats. The figure involved increases in some activities, since the budget estimated a 966-million-dollar saving under the new flexible price support program.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.), who favors returning to the old system of high, fixed price props for major field crops, said he thinks the saving under the new system is "way over estimated."

Thought It Funny?

Pontiac, Mich., Jan. 18 (AP)—Little 2-year-old Michael Sears laughed like the dickens and thought it was very funny. But his mother, Mrs. Rufus Sears, thought the incident was so unfunny and near-tragic that she called the Pontiac Press today "so you can warn others what might happen." Michael and a 5-year-old brother, William, were playing in the Sears basement Saturday. William sauntered up stairs and calmly informed his mother: "Mike crawled in the dryer (automatic clothes dryer) and I locked him in." That sent Mrs. Sears pell mell to the basement. "There was Mike looking through the glass and laughing like the dickens," she said. "Thank heaven, Bill didn't turn on the dryer, heating it up and starting its drum tumbling."

Expert to Make Check

Cleveland, Jan. 18 (AP)—Invited by counsel for Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, a west coast crime expert will come here next weekend to investigate the July 4 murder of Sheppard's wife, Marilyn. Sheppard, convicted of the crime, is appealing his sentence to life imprisonment. Dr. Paul L. Kirk, 52 a professor of criminalistics at the University of California, said he holds "no opinion in the case" and would be "completely neutral  no matter whom it hurts."

Shivers Takes Office

Austin, Tex., Jan. 18 (AP)—Allan Shivers today becomes the first man in Texas history to take the office of governor for a third elective term. Elaborate outdoor inaugural ceremonies at noon and a mid-morning mile-long parade were threatened by possibilities of rain and cold weather. The formal oath-taking for Shivers and Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey, both of whom ran on the Democratic party ticket, was to be moved inside the capitol in case of bad weather.

REWARD OFFERED—Comedian Jerry Lewis offered a $10,000 reward for conviction in the mugging slaying of Mrs. Alex Lanzner, of Irvington, N. J., his first cousin (above). Mrs. Lanzner was beaten while en route home from shopping (Jan. 14), and died two days later. Lewis telephoned the reward from Las Vegas, Nev. (AP Wirephoto).

Convicts Seize

brick cell block known as the Cherry Hill section.

PRISON GUARDS found in the yard a crude ladder made of pieces of wood, wire, pieces of belting and a necktie.

Vance said the prisoners first captured three guards before dawn. When those three failed to report on schedule, the other two went to check and were ambushed.

That prompted an alarm which brought police details armed with riot guns.

Guards inside the cell blocks do not carry weapons.

The ancient prison is in an industrialized area of the Charlestown section, not far from Bunker Hill, scene of one of the first battles of America's fight for independence.

THE CHERRY HILL section is used for men held in solitary.

In the early morning hours between the time of the alarm and the isolation of the revolt there was much yammering and jeering by the desperadoes at police on guard in the old prison, scene of several riots and escapes in recent years.

Corrections Commissioner E. Lawrence Spurr visited the prison and then reported to Governor Christian Herter who told reporters:

"It seems to be a mystery how the prisoners got the guards into the building. The outside door is steel, and it apparently still is locked from the outside, with the key in the guardroom."

McCarthy Accuses

resigned, two were dropped when their assignments ended and one was transferred.

As for the 80 in the second category, the department said two were removed under the 1951 law, two resigned during proceedings against them under the old loyalty program, one resigned during proceedings against them under the Eisenhower security program, one was removed for personnel unsuitability. It gave this further breakdown: 32 resigned for other reasons, 10 were transferred, 4 ended limited appointments, 8 were dropped for economy reasons, 1 retired, 1 died and 7 were never employed.

THESE FIGURES total 69, and McCarthy said he assumed that meant 11 were still employed by the department.

McCarthy told newsmen he is asking the department for a more detailed report on the 90 cases and about 25 others.

He said he had no quarrel with the department's letter which, he added, "does show that they got rid of 69 out of 80 . . . a high mortality rate that shows something was radically wrong."

McCarthy said he suspected the whole incident represented "an attempt to exhume" former Sen. Millard E. Tydings, Maryland Democrat, for a political comeback.

Tydings headed the 1950 subcommittee which investigated McCarthy's charges and called them "a fraud and a hoax." McCarthy termed the group's report "gigantic in its fraud and deep in its deceit."

With McCarthy's backing, Sen. Butler (R.-Md.) defeated Tydings in 1950. His term as senator ends in 1956.

Told of McCarthy's comment, Tydings said: "He better be busy exhuming himself. Ever since he accused President Eisenhower of being soft on communism, he has been digging his own grave."

submarines under construction here. Two more such ships have been provided for and President Eisenhower, in his budget message to Congress yesterday, said three others are planned.

The Nautilus, built by the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp., carried a crew of about 100 officers and men, along with 64 navy and civilian technicians.

No diving operations were planned for her first run on builder's trials.

Rebels' Planes

had no hand in the outbreak.

Somoza told the group his country had taken "no part whatsoever" in the fighting.

BACKING UP their claim of nonintervention, Nicaraguan officials announced that two rebel AT6 trainer planes had landed at Rivas, Nicaragua, yesterday and were promptly seized. Nationality of the pilots was not disclosed.

There was no mention of a fighter plane the rebels have been reported using.

The OAS Council approved the sale of the U. S. planes to Costa Rica, reportedly for a token price of $1 each. The U. S. pilots who ferried them to El Coco will stay in San Jose a week to train Costa Ricans in handling them. The Costa Rican Air Force previously consisted of an old single-engine trainer and some borrowed commercial transports.

Chinese Reds

the Tachens with 155 mm guns, just as they have bombarded Yikiangshan from Toumen.

There are reported to be about 20,000 Nationalist troops and guerrillas on the Tachens, an important link in Chiang Kai-shek's chain of offshore islands.

Earlier today 60 Russian-built warplanes roared out from the mainland and plastered Yikiangshan and the Tachens with more than 200 bombs in 22 minutes. They followed this with a heavy artillery barrage on Yikiangshan from Toumen, apparently a prelude to invasion.

Tiny Yikiangshan has been subjected to repeated bombardments since Nov. 1 when the Reds reportedly fired more than 3,000 shells at it from Toumen island.

Its capture would be both politically and militarily important for it would give the Communists a victory to tie in with their oftrepeated threats to liberate Formosa.

If lost, Yikiangshan would be the first of President Chiang's outposts to fall since the Reds opened the civil war Sept. 3 with a 6,000-round bombardment of Quemoy.

GEORGE M. LEADER samples his 37th birthday cake in Harrisburg, Jan. 17, as he observes his birthday the day before he becomes the first Democratic Governor of Pennsylvania in 20 years. He will be the second youngest governor to take office, the youngest being Governor Pattison who was 32. The cake was inscribed with the saying: "The moving finger writes, and having writ, moves on." THE MARQUEE

T.V. — STAGE — RADIO — RECORDS — PEOPLE

By DICK KLEINER

A FEW FAST FACTS: His friends are worried about Errol Garner, who caught his finger in a door. The great jazz pianist played for six or seven days after the accident, and now faces a possible operation . . . Bob Merrill, who has written pop songs like "Doggie In the Window," has signed to write music and lyrics for a Broadway show, "Serenade." It's his first crack at the stage . . . Buddy Hackett of "Lunatics and Lovers" also makes records for Coral. But his contract calls for him to do only Chinese dialect comedy stuff, so he'll follow his "Chinese Waiter" hit with a "Chinese Laundryman" platter . . . Sammy Kaye's new pianist, Woody Kessler, was for years accompanist for the late Irene Bordoni . . . Liberace ordered a new $17,500 piano, which should be ready in time for his April engagement at the Riveria in Las Vegas. He'll get $50,000 a week there, so maybe he can buy a matching bench.

The tango may be coming back soon. That's the word from one of the leading authorities on the rhythmic music, Russ Murdock. He says his pet dance is now the rage in Paris, and from there, he says, it's only a hop, skip and ocean to the U. S.

Murdock, who is actually an advertising man for a manufacturer of scales, has a collection of 2000 tango records. And he's writing a book "Tango Time," on his baby. What does he think about the mambo?

"I hate the mambo," he says. Every man to his own passion.

Sure, a little bit of Hollywood fell from out the sky one day, and nestled in New Rochelle right next to the railroad tracks. It's quite surprising, but it's been in that suburban Westchester town for years.

Paul Terry makes his fabulous movie shorts, Terrytoons ("Mighty Mouse," "Tom and Jerry," "Heckle and Jeckle," and so forth) in a pleasant New York suburb. Few people, outside the movie business, knew about it, because Terry isn't the type to go around beating drums.

He's an elderly, hearty, philosophical man, primarily an artist, who was one of the first to go into animated cartoons. In those trailblazing days, all movies were made in the New York area. The live stuff moved to California for weather purposes, and many cartoon studios followed. But Terry stayed where he was, and he's still there.

With dogs the rage on television—witness Lassie and Rin-Tin-Tin and some dogs we won't mention—every show is figuring out ways to go canine. Bob Cummings has cast a basset hound named Tiger on an upcoming NBC-TV show of his. Tiger will play the part of a basset hound named Henrietta. Some dogs never get a chance to act.

under attack by those who would destroy us."

WICKS SAID the fact that the legislature permitted bookmaking at racetracks in 1934—a precedent cited by Democrats in support of their bingo bill—should not be applied to the bingo situation. He said the legislature confined bookmaking within an enclosure where policing would be simple. The bingo proposals would not allow any policing, he said.

Wicks' statement was significant because it was the first time that any legislator had declared support of the GOP leaders—Sen. Walter J. Mahoney and Assemblyman Joseph F. Carlino—in their opposition to quick bingo bills.

FURTHERMORE, WICKS is not just any senator. As dean of his house and former majority leader, he wields a power beyond his nominal position. He proved that last year when he beat down ex-Gov. Dewey two days in a row in Dewey's attempt to pass a compulsory auto insurance bill.

The Wicks declaration, therefore, was regarded as certain to stiffen any wavering Republicans against quick bingo—and thus seal the doom of the Mahoney-Bannigan bill.

A prediction that bingo will not be legalized in New York state at this session of the legislature was set forth yesterday in a report by the legislative committee of the Lord's Day Alliance. The report was approved by the organization in its annual meeting in Marble Collegiate Church, Fifth avenue at 29th street, New York.

THE REPORT promised vigorous opposition to bingo and a fight to outlaw commercial dealings in general on Sundays.

"We will oppose the passage of bingo and feel sure that with the combined forces of the Protestant Church in New York state, bingo will not be legalized in this session," the report said.

The Rev. Melvin Forney, general secretary of the alliance, said the group also will oppose a bill designed to permit Sunday operation of stores whose owners deem Saturday to be the Sabbath.

talked to her a few minutes, and then pumped five bullets into her body. She had spurned his love, he said, and intended to marry another man.

Minutes later, last night's brief testimony said, the Southern Methodist University journalism student handed a snub-nosed .38 revolver to Police Sgt. J. W. Kelly, the price tag still on the new gun.

Petersen was dragged kicking and screaming from court after the jury in his first trial ruled he was insane when tried, though sane at the time of the slaying. The second trial came after Petersen was released from mental hospitals and a jury ruled him sane. Determination of sanity in Texas is by jury trial.

"My boy is innocent," Mrs. Lewis F. Petersen, the sombre-dressed and weeping mother of the defendant, told reporters after his guilty plea "There is no question but that he was insane when he killed Carolyn. Now he must bear the mark of Cain for the remainder of his life. I would have fought the case all the way."

Petersen, officer of the Dallas Power & Light Co., also declared his belief his son was innocent on grounds of insanity.

"But we are living in a time of vicious juries," the elder Petersen told reporters. "There was a chance that a jury might have sent my boy, though innocent, to his death in the electric chair."

Petersen, who wrote reams of romantic poetry to Carolyn long after her death, had claimed he was in communication with her and that she was "happy." Minutes after the slaying he had told newsmen "I didn't mean to kill her but after I fired the first shot there was no stopping."

Has Own Winter

Burbank, Calif., Jan. 18 (AP)—At the flick of a few switches, Lockheed Aircraft Corp. engineers can blow up a wintry storm the likes of which—35 degrees below zero and winds up to 270 m.p.h.—southern California has never seen. Lockheed took the wraps off its new blizzard tunnel today and said it is being used to test the cold-weather adaptability of the new C-130 turbo-prop transport and "a number of still-secret aircraft."

Permits Are Necessary

S. Burrell Schwarzwaelder, local superintendent of buildings, today issued a reminder that permits are required for the installation of all types of heating equipment, oil and gas burners and liquid petroleum installations.

Such permits are required by provisions of a city ordinance, he said, and he asked full cooperation of everyone in observing the regulations.

Police Check New Local Burglaries

Police today continued receiving reports of overnight burglaries in the city after a cash register from one of several weekend thefts was recovered in weeds off Greenkill avenue yesterday.

A report at 1:49 a. m., today said two young men were trying to break into the Sprague Electric building on Cornell street. Officers William Slover, Joseph Kivlan, Harold Bowers and William Snyder were dispatched there in two patrol cars, but were not in time.

A WINDOW HAD BEEN opened, the officers said, but they searched around the area without result. Nothing was reported missing.

Monday afternoon a neighbor near the Ferrigan house at 328 South Wall street, reported an apparent attempt to enter the house and a shed. The occupant is spending the winter in Hoboken, N. J. Officers Louis Sapp, Jr., and Francis Buchanan investigated.

DAVID WHISPELL, of 86 Bruyn avenue, at 6:35 p. m., reported the theft of a bicycle wheel and tire while the bicycle was parked in the rear yard of his home, and earlier yesterday the Hayes-Jarrett Motors Corp., reported the theft of fender skirts from a car in the lot at Broadway and Elmendorf street.

Edgar Peterson, of 30 Grand street, reported to the police at 1:10 p. m., that a cash register was found in a lot opposite the Ashdown gas station on Greenkill avenue.

Officers Louis Sapp, Jr., and Francis Buchanan, who investigated, reported that the register appeared to have been "placed" in the weeds, rather than dropped as by someone in a hurry.

THE REGISTER WAS ONE reported taken from Sior's service station, 370 Albany avenue, early Saturday.

At 7:54 a. m., today police were notified that pieces of hose were found outside of the Perry gas station on Broadway and it was thought that some gasoline might have been siphoned from a truck tank.

Detectives Clarence Brophy and Frank Sammons are investigating the thefts.

Ways and Means Committee, introduced the bills with a challenge to Harriman.

They said: "The taxpayers are watching anxiously to see whether the governor scraps his major campaign pledges that he would effect economies and avoid higher taxes."

In other developments last night:

1. The governor called upon the Legislature for immediate action on a bill to appropriate $18,332,430 to tide the state over until April 1.

2. Harriman urged lawmakers of both parties to support a resolution calling upon Congress to increase the national minimum wage from 75 cents to $1.25 an hour.

from escorting Celia home. She said that Demaio did return but said Celia had gotten out of his car at the canal and disappeared.

Ann said she and the two men then went back to the canal to find Celia. Later, Ann went home and she never saw the two men again.

Chief Sutula said Demaio and Celetti had criminal records in Massachusetts—DeMaio for rape and Celetti for assault.

Sutula said a warrant had also been obtained for the arrest of Celetti on the same charge of assault with intent to rape, although police gave no indication he was at the canal with Celia.

"To ask 12 jurors to agree and then decide that the definition of the Communist line found in the indictment is the definition that the defendant had in mind and denied believing in is to ask the jury to aspire to levels of insight to which the ordinary persons is incapable, upon which speculation no criminal indictment should hinge."

The accusations against Lattimore, controversial Far Eastern affairs specialist, all grew out of his testimony in 1952 before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee, then headed by the late Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.).

The committee was investigating the affairs of the Institute of Pacic Relations and its publication, "Pacific Affairs," which Lattimore once edited.

GEORGE M. LEADER samples his 37th birthday cake in Harrisburg, Jan. 17, as he observes his birthday the day before he becomes the first Democratic Governor of Pennsylvania in 20 years. He will be the second youngest governor to take office, the youngest being Governor Pattison who was 32. The cake was inscribed with the saying: "The moving finger writes, and having writ, moves on." THE MARQUEE

By DICK KLEINER

A FEW FAST FACTS: His friends are worried about Errol Garner, who caught his finger in a door. The great jazz pianist played for six or seven days after the accident, and now faces a possible operation . . . Bob Merrill, who has written pop songs like "Doggie In the Window," has signed to write music and lyrics for a Broadway show, "Serenade." It's his first crack at the stage . . . Buddy Hackett of "Lunatics and Lovers" also makes records for Coral. But his contract calls for him to do only Chinese dialect comedy stuff, so he'll follow his "Chinese Waiter" hit with a "Chinese Laundryman" platter . . . Sammy Kaye's new pianist, Woody Kessler, was for years accompanist for the late Irene Bordoni . . . Liberace ordered a new $17,500 piano, which should be ready in time for his April engagement at the Riveria in Las Vegas. He'll get $50,000 a week there, so maybe he can buy a matching bench.

The tango may be coming back soon. That's the word from one of the leading authorities on the rhythmic music, Russ Murdock. He says his pet dance is now the rage in Paris, and from there, he says, it's only a hop, skip and ocean to the U. S.

Murdock, who is actually an advertising man for a manufacturer of scales, has a collection of 2000 tango records. And he's writing a book "Tango Time," on his baby. What does he think about the mambo?

"I hate the mambo," he says. Every man to his own passion.

Sure, a little bit of Hollywood fell from out the sky one day, and nestled in New Rochelle right next to the railroad tracks. It's quite surprising, but it's been in that suburban Westchester town for years.

Paul Terry makes his fabulous movie shorts, Terrytoons ("Mighty Mouse," "Tom and Jerry," "Heckle and Jeckle," and so forth) in a pleasant New York suburb. Few people, outside the movie business, knew about it, because Terry isn't the type to go around beating drums.

He's an elderly, hearty, philosophical man, primarily an artist, who was one of the first to go into animated cartoons. In those trailblazing days, all movies were made in the New York area. The live stuff moved to California for weather purposes, and many cartoon studios followed. But Terry stayed where he was, and he's still there.

With dogs the rage on television—witness Lassie and Rin-Tin-Tin and some dogs we won't mention—every show is figuring out ways to go canine. Bob Cummings has cast a basset hound named Tiger on an upcoming NBC-TV show of his. Tiger will play the part of a basset hound named Henrietta. Some dogs never get a chance to act.

under attack by those who would destroy us."

WICKS SAID the fact that the legislature permitted bookmaking at racetracks in 1934—a precedent cited by Democrats in support of their bingo bill—should not be applied to the bingo situation. He said the legislature confined bookmaking within an enclosure where policing would be simple. The bingo proposals would not allow any policing, he said.

Wicks' statement was significant because it was the first time that any legislator had declared support of the GOP leaders—Sen. Walter J. Mahoney and Assemblyman Joseph F. Carlino—in their opposition to quick bingo bills.

FURTHERMORE, WICKS is not just any senator. As dean of his house and former majority leader, he wields a power beyond his nominal position. He proved that last year when he beat down ex-Gov. Dewey two days in a row in Dewey's attempt to pass a compulsory auto insurance bill.

The Wicks declaration, therefore, was regarded as certain to stiffen any wavering Republicans against quick bingo—and thus seal the doom of the Mahoney-Bannigan bill.

A prediction that bingo will not be legalized in New York state at this session of the legislature was set forth yesterday in a report by the legislative committee of the Lord's Day Alliance. The report was approved by the organization in its annual meeting in Marble Collegiate Church, Fifth avenue at 29th street, New York.

THE REPORT promised vigorous opposition to bingo and a fight to outlaw commercial dealings in general on Sundays.

"We will oppose the passage of bingo and feel sure that with the combined forces of the Protestant Church in New York state, bingo will not be legalized in this session," the report said.

The Rev. Melvin Forney, general secretary of the alliance, said the group also will oppose a bill designed to permit Sunday operation of stores whose owners deem Saturday to be the Sabbath.

talked to her a few minutes, and then pumped five bullets into her body. She had spurned his love, he said, and intended to marry another man.

Minutes later, last night's brief testimony said, the Southern Methodist University journalism student handed a snub-nosed .38 revolver to Police Sgt. J. W. Kelly, the price tag still on the new gun.

Petersen was dragged kicking and screaming from court after the jury in his first trial ruled he was insane when tried, though sane at the time of the slaying. The second trial came after Petersen was released from mental hospitals and a jury ruled him sane. Determination of sanity in Texas is by jury trial.

"My boy is innocent," Mrs. Lewis F. Petersen, the sombre-dressed and weeping mother of the defendant, told reporters after his guilty plea. "There is no question but that he was insane when he killed Carolyn. Now he must bear the mark of Cain for the remainder of his life. I would have fought the case all the way."

Petersen, officer of the Dallas Power & Light Co., also declared his belief his son was innocent on grounds of insanity.

"But we are living in a time of vicious juries," the elder Petersen told reporters. "There was a chance that a jury might have sent my boy, though innocent, to his death in the electric chair."

Petersen, who wrote reams of romantic poetry to Carolyn long after her death, had claimed he was in communication with her and that she was "happy." Minutes after the slaying he had told newsmen "I didn't mean to kill her but after I fired the first shot there was no stopping."

Has Own Winter

Burbank, Calif., Jan. 18 (AP)—At the flick of a few switches, Lockheed Aircraft Corp. engineers can blow up a wintry storm the likes of which—35 degrees below zero and winds up to 270 m.p.h.—southern California has never seen. Lockheed took the wraps off its new blizzard tunnel today and said it is being used to test the cold-weather adaptability of the new C-130 turbo-prop transport and "a number of still-secret aircraft."

Permits Are Necessary

S. Burrell Schwarzwaelder, local superintendent of buildings, today issued a reminder that permits are required for the installation of all types of heating equipment, oil and gas burners and liquid petroleum installations.

Such permits are required by provisions of a city ordinance, he said, and he asked full cooperation of everyone in observing the regulations.

Police Check New Local Burglaries

Police today continued receiving reports of overnight burglaries in the city after a cash register from one of several weekend thefts was recovered in weeds off Greenkill avenue yesterday.

A report at 1:49 a. m., today said two young men were trying to break into the Sprague Electric building on Cornell street. Officers William Slover, Joseph Kivlan, Harold Bowers and William Snyder were dispatched there in two patrol cars, but were not in time.

A WINDOW HAD BEEN opened, the officers said, but they searched around the area without result. Nothing was reported missing.

Monday afternoon a neighbor near the Ferrigan house at 328 South Wall street, reported an apparent attempt to enter the house and a shed. The occupant is spending the winter in Hoboken, N. J. Officers Louis Sapp, Jr., and Francis Buchanan investigated.

DAVID WHISPELL, of 86 Bruyn avenue, at 6:35 p. m., reported the theft of a bicycle wheel and tire while the bicycle was parked in the rear yard of his home, and earlier yesterday the Hayes-Jarrett Motors Corp., reported the theft of fender skirts from a car in the lot at Broadway and Elmendorf street.

Edgar Peterson, of 30 Grand street, reported to the police at 1:10 p. m., that a cash register was found in a lot opposite the Ashdown gas station on Greenkill avenue.

Officers Louis Sapp, Jr., and Francis Buchanan, who investigated, reported that the register appeared to have been "placed" in the weeds, rather than dropped as by someone in a hurry.

THE REGISTER WAS ONE reported taken from Sior's service station, 370 Albany avenue, early Saturday.

At 7:54 a. m., today police were notified that pieces of hose were found outside of the Perry gas station on Broadway and it was thought that some gasoline might have been siphoned from a truck tank.

Detectives Clarence Brophy and Frank Sammons are investigating the thefts.

Ways and Means Committee, introduced the bills with a challenge to Harriman.

They said: "The taxpayers are watching anxiously to see whether the governor scraps his major campaign pledges that he would effect economies and avoid higher taxes."

In other developments last night:

1. The governor called upon the Legislature for immediate action on a bill to appropriate $18,332,430 to tide the state over until April 1.

2. Harriman urged lawmakers of both parties to support a resolution calling upon Congress to increase the national minimum wage from 75 cents to $1.25 an hour.

from escorting Celia home. She said that Demaio did return but said Celia had gotten out of his car at the canal and disappeared.

Ann said she and the two men then went back to the canal to find Celia. Later, Ann went home and she never saw the two men again.

Chief Sutula said Demaio and Celetti had criminal records in Massachusetts—DeMaio for rape and Celetti for assault.

Sutula said a warrant had also been obtained for the arrest of Celetti on the same charge of assault with intent to rape, although police gave no indication he was at the canal with Celia.

of the defendant. The meaning of such a phrase varies according to a particular individual's political philosophy.

"To ask 12 jurors to agree and then decide that the definition of the Communist line found in the indictment is the definition that the defendant had in mind and denied believing in is to ask the jury to aspire to levels of insight to which the ordinary persons is incapable, upon which speculation no criminal indictment should hinge."

The accusations against Lattimore, controversial Far Eastern affairs specialist, all grew out of his testimony in 1952 before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee, then headed by the late Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.).

The committee was investigating the affairs of the Institute of Pacic Relations and its publication, "Pacific Affairs," which Lattimore once edited.
